British Wage Tax Raised to 42½ P. C.

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—Great Britain's leadership increased the nation's income tax today to an unprecedented rate of 42½ per cent to help meet an emergency war budget equalling $13,868,000,000. That same leadership refrained, however, from further official notice of Adolf Hitler's peace bid and took every step in its power to fight to the last.

Compulsory deduction of the income tax from wages and salaries was announced by Sir Kingsley Wood in his first emergency war budget presented to Commons.

Contrary to previous expectations, a statement by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in reply to Germany's "final" peace offer is not anticipated in Commons today, according to authoritative sources.

Sir Kingsley, keeper of Britain's war chest, said the nation's income for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1941, would be £1,234,000,000 (about $4,936,000,000) and that the deficit to be made up by savings or other means would be £1,433,000,000 ($5,732,000,000).

It is plain, the little 59-year-old chancelor said, that Britain's war expenditure for the year will be considerably greater than the estimate of £2,000,000,000 ($8,000,000,000) made in April, with the rate of expenditures now £57,000,000 ($228,000,000) a week.

USES ALL RESOURCES

At this rate, he said, expenditures for the current year would approach £2,800,000,000 ($11,200,000,000) for the war alone and the rate may still increase.

The total budget he placed at £3,467,000,000 ($13,868,000,000) which, he said, "we all welcome as a real and tangible evidence of a greatly accelerated war effort."

He described the excess of expenditure over revenue—estimated at £2,200,000,000 ($8,800,000,000)—as "formidable, but not alarming."

The exigencies of war, he said, were compelling the nation, for reasons not connected with domestic finance, to make considerable use of overseas resources.

The nation meanwhile took its cue to fight on at all costs from Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, who spoke to the world by radio

Hull Elected Parley Head as U. S. Plan Gains Supporters

HAVANA, July 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull of the United States was elected president of the peace commission today as the meeting of representatives of the 21 American republics plunged into serious committee work.

United States security and economic proposals to safeguard the western hemisphere were translated into resolutions as the delegates began their task of composing clashing viewpoints.

ARGENTINA OPPOSED

Besides the peace commission, the neutrality and economic commissions also began deliberations.

Already apparent was Argentina's hesitating attitude toward broad commitments which might affect her future trade relations with Europe and which she feared might result in losses which would not be offset on concrete economic benefits from the United States or other American republics.

Secretary of State Hull scarcely had finished his broad outline of defense and economic plans sponsored by the United States late yesterday when Argentine delegates Leopoldo Melo warned the Pan American gathering against rushing into actions based on "conjectural hypothesis."

HULL MOVES AHEAD

Other speakers, however, generally supported Secretary Hull's version of dangers besetting the New World because of aggressive military and economic methods on other continents.

Hull, seemingly undiscouraged by the Argentine position similar to that at the Lima conference in 1938, moved ahead with drafting of resolutions embodying his government's proposals.

The resolutions were prepared for study by commissions assigned to specific subjects.

Hull clearly was receptive to modifications to incorporate the views of other governments. He hoped the resolutions thus would emerge as the recommendations of the full commissions as a step toward the unanimity which he sought as proof of continental solidarity.

LOAN BILL HELPS

President Roosevelt's recommendation that the lending power of the export-import bank be increased by $500,000,000 brought support for Hull's promise of United States financial aid to relieve pressing economic problems of some of the Latin American nations.

What Argentina and some of the others wanted to know before entering any commitments on hemisphere economy or defense was the specific application of these measures to their own problems.

GERMANS SCORN HALIFAX, READY TO LOOSE FULL FURY

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 23—Without even awaiting Prime Minister Churchill's scheduled address to the House of Commons, Chancellor Hitler today accepted Britain's challenge as expressed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax in a radio address last night.

Clearly indicating the long-awaited onslaught against the British Isles would begin momentarily, an official Wilhelmstrasse spokesman announced:

"It is war to the bitter end!"

The speech of Lord Halifax, rejecting Hitler's "final offer of peace," was officially recognized as Britain's formal answer.

GRAND SCALE WAR ON

Therefore, even in advance of Churchill's address to the House of Commons, Germany announced the politico-diplomatic stage of the war is entered in with signing of the Franco-German armistice at Compiegne had come to an end.

"Grand scale military warfare against England now begins," a spokesman said.

Bitterly condemning both Churchill and Halifax as "gravediggers of the British empire," this official declared:

"The lid is off and the dice have fallen.

"Halifax outdid himself in negative hypocrisy. He has called forth the necessity of another form of procedure than we have hitherto followed, namely, an appeal to reason.

GERMANY'S ONLY ANSWER

"Since he will not listen to the Fuehrer, we must conclude that it does not matter to him and

Mother Balks Girl's Plan to Be Jail Bride

SALEM, July 23—Cupid was on the side of the jailed Bertrand La Plante today, but his prospective mother-in-law maintained a neutral position. In contrast to the romantic stand of her daughter, Mrs. Edith C. O'Meara of Aborn st., Peabody, said her ultimate approval of the 19-year-old farmhand as her son-in-law hinged on the little word "if."

If the good-looking youth convinces district court of his innocence of larceny charges when he appears Thursday, he will receive her motherly blessing, she said.

But if he is convicted, her vivacious daughter, Lena, 20, must abandon her plans to marry young La Plante.

WON'T ATTEND HEARING

Mrs. O'Meara said she would not have time to witness the arraignment of the youth, whose scheduled wedding to Lena in St. John's Church, Peabody, last night, was called off because of his arrest.

Her husband is sick, she explained, and besides she has five other children to look after. She hasn't told her husband of the upset in wedding plans, she said.

Pretty dark-haired Lena declared she would "stick by Bertrand" no matter what the judge says. She'll even take the witness stand for him Thursday if such action would help, she said.

ARRIVES ON BICYCLE

Lena arrived at the jail on the handlebars of a bicycle propelled by a friend, Frank Clocher, after a somewhat rough three-mile ride from her home in Peabody.

Proudly displaying a diamond ring, she professed her willingness to marry the youth anytime or anywhere—"in jail if it can be arranged."

LaPlante was arrested Saturday, charged with the theft of $200 worth of meat and groceries from a Salem Willows market.

Rudy Quits No.1 Girl After Diet Quarrel

NEW YORK, July 23—Night club circles today dined on a fat morsel of news—the walkout of Rudy Vallee on his current No. 1 flame, glamorous Patricia Dane.

According to patrons at the exclusive Cafe Pierre, it all started because Patricia insisted on eating food which Rudy, up on his vitamins, knew would spoil slim Patsy's silhouette.

Before the crooning maestro stalked red-faced out of the cafe sharp words flew back and forth to mingle with the refrain of a jazz band's lilting melody, "Can't We Be Friends."

But after Rudy made his abrupt exit, no tears were seen to ruin the mascara of the lovely brunette showgirl.

Patricia immediately started off with a bowl of peanuts.

It was a rare treat for the night club outers, for the crooner's appearance at the cafe attracted discussion over the latest girl friend of Rudy, who plays the field in Cupid's pari-mutuels. With them was Mr. and Mrs. Richard Himber.

And when Rudy and Patricia began twirling around on the dance floor many necks craned in admiration. Suddenly, Patricia was heard saying emphatically:

"I'm going to eat what I want, whether you like it or not!"

"You won't because it isn't good for you—it's fattening," Rudy shot back.

"I will!"

"You won't!"

Back to their table the crooner and Patricia stamped. Patricia announced Rudy wouldn't let her eat.

Rudy, spluttering, got up abruptly from the table and—walked out.

Uncle Sam Drops Tax Green Sheet

WASHINGTON, July 23 (INS)—The duplicate "green copy" sheets of income tax returns are a thing of the past.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said today new income tax legislation will add to the work of the Internal Revenue Bureau and consequently the duplicate copy, which Americans were first required to submit in 1935 in order that local taxing agents could secure names of persons possessing tangible or other taxable property, will be eliminated.

Luxembourg's Royalty in U. S.

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—Seven refugee members of the Luxembourg royal family will land at Annapolis, Md., Thursday, from the United States cruiser Trenton, third naval district headquarters were informed todya.

Members of the Luxembourg family aboard are Prince Felix of Bourbon-Parma, consort of Grand Duchess Charlotte, and their six children, Grand Duke Jean, Prince Charles and the Princesses Elizabeth, Marie-Adelaide, Marie-Gabrielle and Alix. The grand duchess was said to have remained in Europe.

Farmer's Daughter Helps Milkman Capture Nazis

LONDON, July 23 (INS)—A milkman armed with a shotgun and a farmer's 14-year-old daughter demonstrated the efficiency of Britain's voluntary defense corps today when anti-aircraft fire brought down a twin-engined German bomber on the southeast coast of England.

Nearest to the scene when the huge war bird fluttered to earth the milkman and his young comrade in arms rushed to the wrecked plane, overawed the Nazi crew with the shotgun and took them prisoner.

The government recently awarded a medal to a British housewife, Daisy Cardwell, who took a gun away from a German parachute jumper and marched him to military headquarters under arrest.

REFUGEES ARRIVE FROM AFRICA WAR

Platinum-haired little Meredith Gail Koski, one-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Mrs. Beth Koski and the first white child born on the Firestone rubber plantation in the sweltering West African republic of Liberia, arrived in Boston today with her mother aboard the American-West African lines ship West Humhaw

Besides being the only white baby on the plantation, Meredith Gail also was the darling of the ship on the voyage home.

Mrs. Koski, who comes from St. Paul, Minn, said she left her home three years ago to go to Leberia to wed Onnj O. Koski, her sweetheart who had gone to Liberia earlier to establish himself as a planter.

BLACKS FIGHT ITALIANS

Theirs was the first wedding of white persons on the plantation. Her husband, she said, will return to the United States soon.

As the vessel tied up at the Army Base in South Boston other passengers told of the influence the present war is having in Africa.

Rev. Roy Davidson, Akron, O., missionary returning home, told how, 10 days before Italy entered the war, 28000 giant black troops —none shorter than five feet 10 inches—were shipped out of British West Africa t ofight in Ethiopia against the Italians.

Other passengers said while waiting for sailing time in Freetown, B. W. A., they saw seven huge passenger liners, including the Queen Mary and the Aquitania, laden with 80,000 Australian troops, depart under escort of two cruisers and an aircraft carrier.

WAR CLOSIN GMINES

Sixty other vessels, cargo and passenger, were in port awaiting convoy, they said.

Others of the 12 passengers included the Rt. Rev. Leopold Kroll, Episcopal bishop of Liberia, and Tillam M. Patten, Missouri gold mining engineer who told how the war is closing Africa's rich gold mines.

The ship is discharging a general cargo of 8000 tons, including mahogany logs.

LAUNDRY TRIAL WITNESSES DENY POLICE INFLUENCE

Nine men and one woman testified in Suffolk superior court today that although they were instrumental in switching business to the Elk Laundry operated by Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty's brother, Walter, they had not done so at the behest of police officials.

All were called as witnesses for the defense in four suits involving charges by competitors of the Elk Laundry against Commissioner Timilty, his brother and the latter's concern. Damages and injunctions restraining police solicitation of business are asked by the plaintiffs.

Opposing counsel again clashed bitterly when the defense attempted to establish that James H. Connors, formerly state racing commissioner, later associated with the Eastern Racing Ass'n, controlled plaintiff laundry concerns.

SETTLED BY COURT

The dispute was settled by Judge Allan G. Buttrick by conditional admittance of evidence given by V. C. Bruce Wetmore, treasurer of the Eastern Racing Association and a former associate of Connors.

Wetmore on the stand as a defense witness was asked by Atty. Frank T. Leahy, counsel for Commr. Timilty, how the laundry business of the assiciation, operating Suffolk Downs, was handled when Connors was connected with the race-track.

Leahy told the court:

"I shall bring out that Connors controlled all these companies and that Connors had control of givin gout the business and that all companies got it interchangably."

Atty. George R. Farnum, for the plaintiffs, objected bitterly to the statement ,but Judge Buttrick allowed it to stand for the time being.

CITES CHANGES

Wetmore then went to testify that during the first year of the track's operation while Connors was handling the laundry account the bill was rendered by the Federal National Linen Co.

Then he said in the second year without permission for a change being requested the bill was rendered by the Bell Linen Co. Wetmore added that after Connors disassociated himselm from the track he gave the business to the Elk Laundry.

Wetmore admitted that there was some friction between himself and Connors during 1938 before the latter left the track.

Asked why he gave the business to the Elk. Wetmore replied that he was a friend of the Timilys of long standing and the prices for the service were the same as those of the other concerns.

DENIES REQUEST MADE

At no time, the witness insisted, did police officials approach him with a request that the Timilty concern be givei the laundry business.

Asked about the business of Samuel B. Simon, operators of the track refreshment concessions, W track refreshment concessions, Wetmore said he was instrumental in aiding the Elk Laundry to obtain the business.

Denying any talk with Commr. Timilty about the laundry business, Wetmore told the court that one time Connors had told him that he owned several laundry companies.

3 Women Tried After Arrest By 57 Police

SALEM, July 23—Arrested in an alleged church yard disturbance that 57 police officers were sent to quell, three women of St. John the Baptist parish here went on trial in district court today on charges of unlawful assembly and disturbing religious worship.

City Marshal John C. Harkins testified he led the big police detail after reports of repeated disorder at the church over appointment of Rev. Frederick Cieszinski as pastor.

The city marshal said he first sent only 12 patrolmen to the church, but said they were pushed around by a crowd of more than 100 women gathered in the church yard. He then led the 45 reserves to the scene and cleared the yard, he told the court. He said the women arrested came back to the church after being ordered away.

The defendants, Mrs. Helen Lisag, 42, Mrs. Mary Sieczakowska, 28, and Mrs. Laura Kozinska, 29, denied they created a disturbance or defied police orders to disperse. They charged they were roughly handled by arresting officers.

5 Youths Seized In Revere Chase

Five Dorchester youths were apprehended by Charlestown and Metropolitan police today after a five-mile auto chase from the Bunker Hill loop to Revere Beach.

Patrolman John S. Rice and Philip Morrison fired seven shots during the pursuit. One shot pierced a rear window of the fleeing car, passed near the driver's head and went out through the windshield.

Forced to the curb at Ocean ave. and Revere Beach pkwy., the five youths were reported to have faced the police with their fists, but were quickly subdued. All were taken to Boston police headquarters for questioning.

Edgartown Protests Loss of Rail Stop

Year-round residents of Edgartown today prepared to protest the proposal of the New Haven railroad trustees to eliminate the stop at that fashionable resort.

The road also petitioned the state public utilities commission for approval to increase freight rates and to cut down on the service so that only one boat would operate during the winter months. A hearing was set for Sept. 23.

GRANDMA RESCUED FROM FIRE

Overcome by smoke, an 80-year-old grandmother was carried down ladders by firemen as flames destroyed a four-story tenement block in Washington st., East Somerville, today.

The aged woman was Mrs. Mary Ward, who collapsed as she and four others fought to escape through smoke-filled hallways to the street. After being revived by police and firemen, she was rushed to Somerville Central Hospital, where her name is on the danger list.

Her son, George Ward, 48, and his wife and two children, Marjorie, 14, and James, 11, formed a human chain to grope their way downstairs. Two pets, a dog and a cat were carried out by the children.

One ladderman, Oliver Sinclair, 37, was cut about the hands during the blaze, for which Deputy Chief Horace W. Hutchins ordered three alarms sounded. Help from Charlestown, Cambridge, Arlington and Everett was called.

Charlee Daly and Cornelius Canty, employed at a nearby milk company, aroused the family and rang the first alarm. Later the pair entered the burning building to assist the family out.

The entire structure, including a variety store, fish market and butcher shop on the first floor, was a mass of flames when the first apparatus arrived.

The extra alarms were sounded as a precautionary measure due to many tenements and industrial buildings in the immediate vicinity. Firemen warned the families of Arthur McEachern and Mrs. Florence Gilliam to prepare to flee from their homes, but the flames were quickly checked.

Newton Bridal Before Council

An added attraction at the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen late last night—a special feature—was the wedding of a shy and blushing Bedford couple in Newton City Hall.

The couple, who requested that their identities be kept secret, first applied at the police station about 11 p. m., wanting to know where they could be wedded.

They were sent to the City Hall, where the aldermen's meeting was in progress, and Clerk James P. Gallagher performed the ceremony.

Before a surprised political audience, they kissed and departed.

Bay State Families Thrilled With World's Fair Wonders

WORLD'S FAIR New York, July 23—Four Bay State families, winners of the Typical American Family in Massachusetts Contest, sponsored by the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser co-operating with officials of the New York World's Fair of 1940, were today enjoying the "thrill of a lifetime," at the huge ex position grounds.

As a result of these families winning honors in the contest, they were awarded an all-expense-paid trip to the World's Fair.

The first prize winners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Maddison, of 25 Norman rd., Melrose, along with their two children, Barbara, 17, and Frederick, 14, were occupants of the F. H. A. typical family home, located on the fair grounds.

The Maddisons arrived at the World's Fair yesterday, and immediately moved into their new home for one week as guests of the Fair officials.

"EARLY TO BED"

"We're planning to see even more than is called for on the program the Fair people so thoughtfully supplied us with," Mr. Maddison said.

"Although we are going to see everything worth seeing in the Great White Way, it's going to be "early to bed" for us the next few nights, for there are so many exhibits, foreign buildings and other things we have read about that we simply must see."

Harvey D. Gibson, chairman of the Fair board, called upon the Melrose family at their World's Fair home andspaid his respects.

The F. H. A.-approved home has been completely furnished by Sears Roebuck & Company and free maid service and free meals will be given the Maddison family for the duration of their visit.

Transportation to and from the Fair was supplied the typical family by courtesy of the Ford Motor Company in a chauffeur-driven new Ford V-8 sedan.

Among the first to greet the prize winners after they were settled in their temporary address was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Morse, of Middleton, along with their children Charles, 15, Robert, 11, and Nancy, 9.

The latter family was awarded second prize honors. They arrived in New York yesterday after traveling from Boston to New York via the New Haven Railroad.

FORCED TO TAKE TRAIN

Because of a cancellation in the flight of the American Airlines 9:20 a. m. flight yesterday, due to foggy weather, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williamson, of Belmont street, Brockton, third prize winners, were forced to go by train.

However, the Williamsons, accompanied by a son, Lloyd, 13, insist that they will accomplish the return trip via American Airlines. The trio have never been in an airplane, even though they have two sons licensed pilots.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Barnes of Pond st., South Weymouth, accompanied by son, Milton, Jr., 16, and daughter, Pauline, 15, arrived in New York this morning aboard the S. S. New York of the Eastern Steamship Lines. The Barnes family was awarded fourth prize in the contest.

With the exception of the Maddison family the other winners will remain in New York for three days.

Boy Glad Now His 5 Shots Missed Girl

DUNN, N. C., July 23—After a night in jail for firing five shots at the girl who jilted him, Mack Hobson, 20-year-old love sick student, today decided he could live without her after all.

But pretty Alease Tart — his "sweet adorable angel," his "life and his very soul"—was not willing to forget the gunplay which developed in a crowded dime store.

Alease herself swore out a warrant against Hobson, campus leader at the University of North Carolina and editor of the school's humor magazine, who had been Alease's sweetheart since their high school days.

And police formally booked the student on charges of felonious assault.

Alease saved her own life by grabbing Hobson's pistol as he opened fire, but two bullets struck bystanders inflicting slight flesh wounds.

A suicide note found in Hobson's pocket was revealed by police. Believed to have been written several months ago when he threatened to drown himself, the note, according to police, was addressed to Miss Tart but never delivered.

Maine Solons Study Treasurer Problem

AUGUSTA, Me., July 23—The Maine legislature in special session for examination of the state's finances, today, studied a recommendation that the state treasurer be appointed by the Finance Commissioner for a term limited only to "satisfactory service."

The Senate accepted a tabled for consideration a proposal to convert the treasurer's office into a "career job." It also would abolish the office of deputy treasurer.

Sullivan Hits 'Rebel' Teachers

Branded as "rebels" because they demanded high salaries for teaching national defense courses, Boston trade instructors nevertheless looked forward today to a pay rate of $15 daily this summer.

Alexander M. Sullivan, business manager of the Boston school committee, wrathfully asserted that the teachers refused to help in the defense program for $12 a day, although their remuneration for the summer work will be additional to the $3744 annual salary which most of them receive.

"There are no red-blooded Americans or redblooded educators who would appove the action of these permanently employed teachers in rebelling against $12 a day at a time when their country is faced with an emergency national defense program," Sullivan declared.

Sullivan informed the school committee members that because of the teachers' demands, school officials made out the following defense program salary rate:

Supervisors, $18 for eight-hour day; teachers in charge, $16; teachers, $15; clerical assistants, $6; tool keepers, $5.

Hub Phone Exchanges Put Under Guard

Uniformed guards were on duty today at all major exchanges of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company in downtown Boston to scrutinize persons and to halt anyone not having business in the buildings.

Company officials were also reported considering having employes carry identification cards. The steps are being taken as precautionary measures against sabotage attempts.

DRIVER DIES IN FIELD

SHARON, July 23—A victim of heart disease, William Perry, 48, of Quincy, a salesman, was found dead in a field near the Boston-Providence Post road. Police said he apparently became ill while driving, as his parked car was located nearby.

Americans Aid British Defense

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—Americans who have lived for a long time in England are forming their own "home guard" to help Britain's defense volunteers fight off any attempt at invasion.

Because many American residents already have gone back to the United States it is unlikely that a large force can be raised, but it is expected to be one of the best equipped defense units in Britain.

Plans call for a highly mobile, mechanized force, ready for duty at any point where it may be needed.

So far about 60 Americans who consider his country their "second home" and want to do their bit toward defending it have joined up.

Al Smith Expected To Walk to Willkie

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 23—Al Smith, who "took a walk" when the Democratic party renominated Roosevelt in 1936, is expected to support Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, in the 1940 presidential campaign.

Smith, his friends pointed out today, is a vigorous opponent of the third term. He believes a third term would accentuate what he contends is the peril of too much centralized power in Washington.

Whether Al will make speeches in Willkie's behalf has not been settled.

SPOKE FOR LANDON

However, in 1936 the former Governor of New York and one-time Democratic presidential candidate made talks in behalf of Alf M. Landon, the Republican nominee.

Smith, in the forthcoming campaign, probably will find his niche in the ranks of one of the various factions of anti-third termers, such as the Jeffersonian Democrats, the Andrew Jackson party (headed by former Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, who was "purged" by the New Deal) or the American Liberty League, which still is in existence.

Al "took a walk" from Roosevelt four years ago when he and Democrats of his stamp could no longer go along with the bulk of Roosevelt policies and the trend of the administration toward centralization of power. He did not oppose all New Deal policies, however. In fact, he favored Roosevelt's neutrality bill.

AGAINST WALLACE

The 1940 Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Henry A. Wallace, is politically unpalatable to Al Smith because he has been one of the Roosevelt "brain trust." Al has made no secret of his attitude toward the "inner circle" at Washington.

Smith did not attend the Democratic national convention in Chicago. He heard some of the proceedings over the radio, but he didn't stay up to listen to President Roosevelt's address to the convention.

His interest was cooled because he felt the convention was dominated by one man—the President.

Despite Smith's virtual retirement from politics, he still has a strong following of Democrats—and some Republicans—throughout the nation.

Garner Bids Sad Goodby To Capital

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Vice-President Garner rode southward toward his Texas home today, pointedly silent about a third term for President Roosevelt and any plans for returning here to serve out his own second term.

"I want to have the same rights as my leader, first, to change my mind, or second, to delay my decisions," the bushy-browed Texan told a reporter as he and Mrs. Garner boarded their special railroad car.

The Vice-President made it plain that "my leader" was President Roosevelt and the other references meant the uncertainty which developed over the third term issue prior to the Chicago convention, where Garner sought the presidential nomination in his own right.

There was much of the atmosphere of a farewell to Washington both at the Vice-President's offices and later at Union Station. However, old friends of "Cactus Jack," who came here in 1903 as a young congressman, said they expected him to return. He is going to Texas ostensibly to vote in the primary election.

Nazis Free Bay State Captive

NEWBURYPORT, July 23—News of the capture and subsequent release by the Nazis of their son, E. Lawson Goodwin, 26, serving with the American Volunteer Ambulance Corps with the French army, was received here today by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Goodwin of High st.

The Goodwins received the word of his capture and release in a telegram from J. W. Johnson, president of the A. V. A. C., who stated he had obtained his information from the State Department in Washington.

Young Goodwin, Johnson said, is now with Dr. Sparks, director of the corps at Poste Restante, Pau, France.

When captured Goodwin was serving in the Benjamin Franklin section of the corps in the front line. Goodwin is a graduate of Brown and Nichols School and Yale and holds masters degrees in both French and German. He also studied at various schools in Germany.

Fr. Bernard Espelage, Gallup, N. M., Bishop

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cigognani, apostolic delegate, has announced the appointment of the Rev. Bernard Theodore Espelage, O. F. M., to be bishop of the diocese of Gallup, N. M.

The bishop elect, who is now at the Church of the Holy Family, Oldenburg, Indiana, and serves also as a professor at Holy Family Seminary, is a brother of Bishop Sylvester Espelage, O. F. M., vicar-apostolic of Wuchang, China.

Brennan Quits-Democrat Party

NORTH ATTLEBORO, July 23—Bitterly condemning what he termed the undemocratic manner of naming the presidential and vice-presidential nominees at the Democratic convention, Selectman James Brennan today requested that his party designation be removed from the voting list.

An alternate delegate to the Chicago meeting, Brennan criticized the pressure used to sway the Massachusetts delegation from its support of Farley. As to the choice of Wallace, Brennan said:

"I believe the forced withdrawal of Paul McNutt's name for the nomination was contrary to democratic principles. To continue under the present leadership would be contrary to my honest convictions and a violation of the confidence placed in me by my many friends in the Democratic party."

WILLKIE ON HIS WAY TO CHEYENNE RODEO

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 23 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie is setting out today on a two-day swing through Wyoming and Utah to join Westerners in enjoying their most typical sport—watching cowboys wrestle plunging steers or ride jolting broncos.

Accompanied by Mrs. Willkie, the Republican nominee arranged to leave Colorado Springs in the early morning by plane for Denver and then go by train to the Cheyenne, Wyo., frontier days celebration.

Willkie's schedule then called for a plane trip to Salt Lake City and a visit to that city's rodeo tomorrow. Later tomorrow, he planned to have a look at the Ogden, Utah, rodeo.

The nominee went last night to a motion picture which reviewed events of the last 25 years. One scene was of Newton Baker, former war secretary.

"I was one of Newton Baker's boys in Ohio politics," Willkie remarked later.

ACCEPTANCE AUG. 17

Willkie said another scene of transports leaving for France reminded him of his embarkation with American troops.

An outline of the program for Willkie's acceptance address at Elwood, Ind., was completed yesterday and the nominee set August 17 as the day for the address.

Willkie said he would make his speech in Callaway Park. As a boy, he said, he had earned 75 cents a week driving cows through the 50-acre tract.

OLD SWIMMING HOLE

"It was called Joe DeHority's Woods," Willkie added. "The old swimming hole was there.

Following pledges of support yesterday by John W. Hanes and Lewis W. Douglas, former New Deal officials, Willkie said other Democrats would come to his support.

Willkie, who changed his registration from Democrat to Republican shortly before the Republican convention, said he was "extremely gratified at Hanes' and Douglas' statement that they wanted to enlist for him Democrats "who believe with us that loyalty to country takes precedence over loyalty to party."

Everett Gem Store Looted

Hurling a cloth-covered brick through a jewelry store window in Broadway, Everett, a daring thief today snatched two gold watches valued at $60 and made his escape in a waiting car driven by an accomplice.

Police in the nearby central station heard the crash and ran out and gave chase, but the thieves eluded them in a tangle of traffic.

Albert Simpkins, owner of the store, told police that the two watches were the only articles taken.

CHARM MAGIC KEY TO FAME IN FILMS

You, Miss Charm, may be Miss America.

This contest—the current hunt for Miss Massachusetts 1940—may be the steppingstone to a career on the stage, or in the movies.

DANCER—Pretty Berla Marshall, Boston dancer, today had entered the Miss Massachusetts contest . . . and hopes to win. She's 19.

It is no ordinary beauty contest. Beauty of face alone will not win the major prize.

It is a contest for girls of talent, charm, intelligence, character, besides pulchritude.

The lucky girl who is selected will have the opportunity to represent the Bay State in the annual search for Miss America at Atlantic City. She will receive a dazzling wardrobe suitable for a week of festivities.

Already scores of young girls throughout the state have entered the contest and one of these girls, perhaps unknown and obscure, who has been praying for just such an opportunity, may find the answer to her dreams.

The contest is open to any girl between the ages of 18 and 28 who is a resident of this state, an American citizen, and who has never been married. Amateurs and professionals are eligible but past professional experience will not be considered in making the award.

The contest for "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is sponsored by the Boston Daily Record, Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser. The winner will be furnished free transportation by the newspapers, and a complete wardrobe suitable for a week of festivities.

This is your big opportunity. Read the rules of the contest and fill out the accompanying entry blank. Remember that what happened to other winners may happen to you, and that this may be the first step toward the realization of your dreams and ambitions.

Alcatraz Hunger Strike Still On

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23 (INS) Convicts suspected of leading Alcatraz prison hunger strike were segregated today, Warden James A. Johnson said, in an effort to end the eight days of self-imposed starvation.

Fewer than 100 of the 300 federal penitentiary inmates ate cold food at dinner last night. Most of the others merely drank water or coffee while some nibbled bread.

While none of the convists, including the toughest in any American prison, would reveal the purpose of the strike, the warden suspected it was motivated by a desire for more privileges.

The participants, meanwhile, have continued their obedience to prison routine. Although showing signs of weakness, they carried out their assignments in the laundry and shops.

No Lonely Road Now!

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Well, we just heard that old Al Smith is taking another walk. But he will have to step fast to catch up to old Carter Glass.

The gentleman from Virginia is out on an ankle excursion on his own. He arrived at the Chicago convention with his hair in a tight bun and his message to Garcia was urgent and collect.

Carter slapped that convention to a white blister. Then he broke the blister. The old boy is 12 years older than the law allows but he can still smite his enemy hip, thigh and scruff.

It does your heart good when you see a man 82 years along the mile-stones spending his old age pension for marbles and a jackknife.

They may put Carter Glass out to pasture. But they cannot make him eat political grass.

Reds Build Base Just Off Alaska

SEATTLE, Wash., July 23 (INS)—The Coast Guard cutter Perseus today verified reports Soviet Russia had established military fortifications directly facing Alaska on Big Diomede island in the Bering sea.

The cutter returned to Seattle after visiting Little Diomede island, one mile from the Russian possession. Coast Guardsmen said Eskimos on Little Diomede reported Russian soldiers had barred them from trading while the north end of Big Diomede was being leveled for construction of a hangar and air field.

The Perseus, normally based at San Diego, was believed to have been dispatched to the Bering sea especially to determine the extent of reported Soviet military preparations.

WINDSOR'S POST SEEN UNITY AIM

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 23 (AP)—Puzzled Bahamans, trying to guess just why the Duke of Windsor, former British ruler, is being sent here as governor, speculate that Britain may be planning to unify all her West Indian possessions.

They see obstacles ahead for any plan to put the 11 British colonies of this area under one administrator. Yet, they believe there must be some deep, basic reason why the former king of 500,000 000 subjects was designated to govern a mere 68,000 residents of one minor colony.

Their speculation turned on unification and dominion status for the British West Indies because the formal announcement said that the Duke would come here as "Governor-General," a title customarily reserved for the administrators of Dominions, such as Canada, South Africa and Australia.

The simpler term "governor" has been used for the chief executive of this and other colonies.

Nassau officials, in a flurry of excitement, felt the British colonial office would not use the title by accident. They conjectured that a new dominion might be contemplated, composed of the Bahamas, Bermuda, Barbados, Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, the Windward Islands, the Leonard Islands, British Guiana and British Honduras. It would have more than 3,000,000 inhabitants and would invest the Duke's new office with added importance.

last night to reject bluntly Fuehrer Hitler's "last chance" peace offer.

LITTLE DAMAGE

German bombers attacked Britain this morning from the Thames estuary to South Wales and north to Scotland, but the government said little damage and no fatalities resulted. About 100 incendiary bombs were dropped on one Scottish town, where "several persons" were said to have been injured and damage done "to shop and house property."

Britain announced raids on Germany Sunday night and Monday morning in which it was said 37 tons of explosive bombs were dropped on "two of Germany's principal airplane factories," identified as the Dornier Works at Wismar, on the Baltic sea, and the Fieseler airplane factory near Kassel.

French fliers from the forces under Gen. Charles De Gaulle were said to have taken part in these raids.

The problem of the chancellor of

HALF BY BORROWING

The traditional British way to raise funds is to get half by taxation and half by borrowing.

As Commons assembled to hear Sir Kingsleys new supplementary budget it was with the knowledge the British public already was paying a record income tax of a basic rate of 7½ shillings to the pound, a rate equal to about 40 cents to the dollar.

Lord Halifax was plain-spoken in his rejection of the new Hitler "peace" gesture.

"The people of the British Commonwealth," he said, "along with all those who love truth and justice and freedom will never accept this new world of Hitler's."

He said Britain "will not stop fighting until freedom for ourselves and others is secure" and added:

"We realize the struggle may cost us everything, but just because the things we are defending are worth any sacrifice, it is a noble privilege to be the defender of things so precious."

BRITISH DIVE BOMB AIR BASE

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—British dive bombers were reported today by the admiralty to have made an attack yesterday on the German seaplane base at Bergen during which they sank an anti-aircraft ship, though hampered by adverse weather.

The attack on the Norwegian port was carried on just before dawn, the admiralty indicated, but because of poor visability the raiders were unable to score hits on all objectives. The communique said:

"Early yesterday Sukas (dive bombers) of the fleet air arm made an attack on Bergen. Owing to low visibility and unfavorable weather conditions, the main objectives were not in all cases attained.

"Bombs were, however, dropped on the seaplane base and an enemy anti-aircraft ship was sunk."

Berlin Claim U-Boat Victim, Air Successes

BERLIN, July 23 (AP)—Today's German high command communique:

"One of our small U-boats sank 18,000 registered tons of enemy shipping space from a strongly protected convoy.

"Reconnaissance flights were made by the air force over England and Scotland and, during the night of July 22-23, it attacked enemy harbor facilities, airports, anti-aircraft and searchlights.

Especially attacked were forts of Pembroke, with oil stores, Chatham, Sheerness, Edinburgh and Aberdeen as well as airports near Portsmouth and Bristol channel. In the channel and on the British east coast, three merchant ships were damaged.

Enemy planes continued during the dawn of July 23 attacking non-military objectives in northern and western Germany. In one village, a church and several houses were damaged. One enemy plane was shot down. One German plane is missing.

Heavy Shipping Loss to Nazis

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—The admiralty announced today nine British merchant ships totalling 23,963 tons, four Allied ships totalling 7335 tons, and six neutral ships totalling 20,734 tons, were sunk by enemy action in the week ended July 14.

WAR ORPHANS' SOLE HOPE IS U. S. IN TERROR REIGN

Let war refugee children find safety in the United States and Canada before it is too late. Such is the universal plea as the invasion of Britain seems momentarily nearer.

To leave little boys and girls in England means that thousands of them must die horrible deaths in bombardments, mechanized raids and tank assaults.

To bring them here is assurance that their lives can be saved and their eyes spared the sight of the outrages that attend modern warfare.

Many hundreds of children are reaching Canadian and American ports, whence they go to families that have offered them shelter either permanently or for the duration of the conflict.

But many more hundreds must be brought here as soon as ships and convoys are available.

Even a sudden "blitzkrieg" will not end the necessity of evacuating the children. Such an attack would be costly in terms of death, suffering and destruction. But the want and illness that will surely follow the "blitzkrieg" will undoubtedly be worse.

For these reasons hundreds write daily to the Boston American, expressing their desire to take children and making such generous pleas as those contained in the following letters:

BROCKTON — "My husband and I will gladly take a child from England for the duration of the war. We have two sons and two daughters of our own, but we can easily find room for another child. It is too bad that so many little ones still remain in the areas that will feel the brunt of attack.

"Please send our name and offer to the proper authorities."

WORCESTER—"I would dearly love to take a little girl from Britain to adopt and rear as my own child. Though I have been married 12 years, I am childless. I am not rich, but I am sure I could be a good mother and the little girl would learn to love me."

QUINCY—"We have always wanted a baby girl and consequently would be pleased to take one of the children who are coming here from Britain. We have three boys, and you can be very sure they would love to have a little sister.

"I do hope that Britain will decide to ship the children in larger numbers and therefore make it possible for every American family that has applied for them to have them.

"As I see it, the English government should utilize every safe ship in the speedy transportation of these little ones. It is a question of saving their lives or of subjecting them to death and injury. There is only one choice. The boys and girls should be brought here at the earliest possible moment."

YOUNG ENGLISH WAR REFUGEES
Many to Find Refuge in Bay State Homes

SOUTH BOSTON—"Please add our names to the list of New England families awaiting war orphans. We have a very big place in our home and hearts for three children from abroad. The age and sex are not important. We are chiefly concerned with saving the youngsters' lives."

DORCHESTER—"My wife and I would be happy to care for three children from abroad for the duration of the war. There must be thousands of Belgian and Dutch children stranded in England, where they found refuge when their own countries were invaded.

"If some of these children are evacuated to America, will you please ask the authorities in Washington to send three of them to us."

Mother Jailed For War Gossip

GLASGOW, July 23 (AP)—Mrs. Matilda Forsyth, 47, a mother, was sentenced to 21 days' imprisonment today after she admitted she had made these statements about the war:

That the Germans had landed in southern England and destroyed the docks, and that President Roosevelt had sent a ship to remove Britain's poor children to safety, but that it had been monopolized by persons such as Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information.

Britain Gains In Destroyers

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—Naval experts declared today Britain has more destroyers in service now than when war began last September, despite the loss of 26, including the sinking of the Brazen announced yesterday.

The Daily Express said that in the spring of 1939 44 destroyers were under construction for Britain and six for Brazil, the latter under a provision that in an emergency the admiralty could take title to them.

Thus, the Express said, deducting the lost 26, there still must be at least 24 more destroyers in service now.

The Daily Telegraph's naval correspondent said there were 175 destroyers when the war began and this number had been increased to 183.

RECRUITING SUSPENDED

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 23 (AP)—Defense Minister G. A. Street announced today temporary suspension of recruiting for the Australian imperial force because initial objective of 80,000 had been reached.

France Orders Farmers Home

VICHY, France, July 23 (AP)—Farmers and farm workers who fled to unoccupied France from areas occupied by the Germans must return to their homes immediately, the national defense ministry announced today.

A partial prohibition of hard liquor has been introduced under the Petain government with suppression of Nomadic distillers.

These formerly went from farmhouse to farmhouse distilling wine and cider of the farmers.

The new French government also announced a program to modernize and increase the French merchant marine while "renouncing" large and elaborately furnished liners such as the Normandie.

The Normandie is in New York harbor and Great Britain has announced she would seize any French merchant ships found at sea.—Editor's note.

Admiral Jean Darlan, secretary-general of the French military and merchant marine, said wealthy passengers wanting to travel quickly would be obliged to use planes. Others in less hurry would travel on cargo-passenger steamers.

French Troops Flee in Secret

BERN, Switzerland, July 23 (AP)—Making use of an "underground railway" and to be spreading slowly through France in all directions, 13 French soldiers reached the Swiss frontier before dawn today still bearing arms after a month's flight through German occupied regions.

The soldiers, led by a captain and a lieutenant, said they were part of a company which split into small groups and started for Switzerland when hemmed in by the Germans near Metz June 19—a few days before the armistice.

Italians Continue Bombing in Africa

ROME, July 23 (AP)—The text of the communique issued today by the Italian high command:

"In North Africa our effective bombing actions continued along the Egyptian border with attacks on Mersa Matruh and the Sidi Barrani zone. All our planes returned. In East Africa we again successfully bombed Wajir. The enemy repeatedly bombed Dirredawa, killing one native, but without causing damage."

Nazis Invite Rumania to Learn Fate

BUDAPEST, July 23 (INS)—Germany stepped into the tangled Balkan situation once more today with revelation that two Rumanian statesmen have been invited to the Reich by Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop.

Premier Ion Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu will travel to Salzburg to confer with von Ribbentrop Friday.

They will hear the Nazi decision regarding Rumania's future, including disposition of Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims for Transylvania and South Dobruja.

The invitation has left Rumania nervously expecting momentous events.

Hungary's government, meanwhile, suddenly decided to grant autonomy to Ruthenia. Under this plan, half a million Ruthenians, formerly under Czechoslovakian rule, will enjoy home rule.

Earlier the Hungarian parliamentary jury expelled from Parliament two Nazi leaders, Kalman Hubay and Paul Vago, for proposing a bill to split up the entire Hungarian state into autonomous national groups. The expulsion was a severe blow to the prestige of the Nazi party.

German Ship Sunk By Chinese Artillery

SHANGHAI, July 23 (AP)—The 1000-ton motorship Karsten, flying the German flag, was reported today to have been sunk off Ningpo, presumably by Chinese artillery fire.

The ship had been plying between Shanghai and Ningpo for three years.

England's Oldest Freemason, 95, Dead

BRAINTREE, Essex, Eng., July 23 (AP)—G. T. Bartram, the oldest Freemason in England, died today at the age of 95. A copy of his portrait exhibited in the Royal Academy in 1939 hangs in the Town Hall of Braintree, Mass. Bartram has been a city councilor in the English Braintree for 60 years.

New Cloth-Fur Coats Are Attractive, Exciting

By ANNICE BRINK

FOR THE GIRL who wouldn't think of going without a cloth-and-fur coat in her wardrobe . . . who "spells" one during the in-between weather when a fur coat would be too heavy . . . or who actually prefers buying a new and smart fabric coat every year to the heavy investment required on good furs . . . the new models offer much that's exciting and new.

It's particularly chic now to have a cunning fur hat, matching the collar or jacket-top or cape of your cloth coat, and you can manage the tie-up between fabrics, to trim the hat, especially if you buy early in the season.

While sleeves are all comparatively narrow at the wrist this year, tapering from shoulders which are still good and broad, very often you'll find a narrow cuff of fur, particularly if it's a mink collar you boast.

Newest looking of all are the side-swung closings. Very often they'll be outlined by the fur, swinging right down to the hem. And this is an excellent idea for it not only gives a rich look, but it adds height and grace.

One very smart mink-trimmed coat (best on black fabric, as it has been for quite a while) has a large, rippled cape-like collar with a little, stand up collar band snug at the throat, and then a border of two pelts swings down from the collar and follows the side closing to the hem.

Blastrons, wide borders or narrow bloused tuxedo fronts, and jacket-effects are all featured. Even the apron-front has been adapted, and in a lavishly trimmed coat has a double-belt hem border which swings up on the sides, ending at mid-thigh.

Entertain at West Falmouth

One of the gayest week-ends of the season found many Cape Codders and their house guests tripping the light fantastic at the Barclay in West Falmouth.

Miss Cora Bayliss of New York entertained at a cocktail party aboard her yacht before taking her guests on to the Barclay. With her gown of coral tulle she wore an heirloom jade pendant. Members of the party included Helen Chase of West Newton, John and Richard Fisher of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Appleyard of Newton Center and Pocasset were hosts to a party of friends which included Mrs. Appleyard's twin sisters, "Pat" and "Pic" Taylor of Beacon street. Mrs. Appleyard looked cool and summery in white crepe with gold accessories while the twins attracted many admiring glances as they twirled around in white sharkskin with coral lined hoods. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abbe of Wellesley were in a party with Mrs. John S. Smythe of Wellesley, both of the ladies trim in blue spectator sports dresses and corsages.

Show Draws Fashionables

Taking a tip from Libby Holmen, erstwhile blues singer, who opened in a new show "The Greeks Had a Word for It," at Marblehead last evening, the ladies in the audience were very smartly and gayly attired.

Many admiring comments greeted Miss Holman's appearance on the stage in a beautiful white gown and white fox cape, while Betty Hutton, another star in the show, astonished everyone with her spectacular widow's weeds . . . a small black cap with a floor length veil. Mildred Todd's first act flaming gown and mink coat were most effective, and in another act, her white satin gown and veil emphasized her dark hair.

Post deb Harriet Butler of Salem, chairman of the program committee, had as her assistants, Nancy Tucker of Marblehead Neck, and Marguerite Hall of Salem.

Among the regular Monday night subscribers are Mrs. Duncan Dana and her daughter, Anstiss, Mrs. Philip Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Dane, Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walcott, Miss Lydia Gove and Mr. William P. Hutchinson.

BOSTONIANS FLOCK TO BRETTON WOODS

Motoring over picturesque mountain highways, climbing trails up steep mountain sides or riding to the summit of Mt. Washington on the cog railway, are attractions which have lured many Boston tourists to the Bretton Woods section of New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Bradlee of Brookline are expected soon for their annual visit at the Mount Washington Hotel, where Miss Laura Campbell of Boston, and Mrs. Neil Drake of Chatham, are already visiting. Mrs. Drake is accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Drake of Palm Beach, Florida.

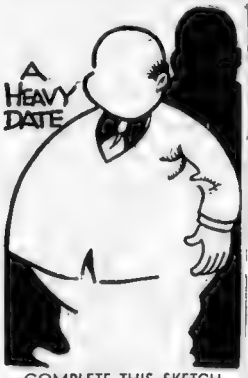
Hub Counts Blessings As Nation Swelters

Warmer temperatures were in store for Boston today, after the city enjoyed a day of cool easterly breezes from the ocean while the rest of the country sweltered.



Thermometers in points as far east as New York state topped the 100-degree mark, but Boston's maximum temperature was only 73. The heat from the west and the cool east wind collided over Massachusetts to form foggy conditions and a series of electrical disturbances.

Prankish bolts struck several towns and the North Common section of Westminster was pelted by hail for 30 minutes. Hail stones ranging in size from marbles to eggs cracked windows, dented autos and covered the ground with more than six inches of ice.

Pepperell was hardest hit by the storm, with buildings damaged by falling trees, roads blocked and heavy losses reported to fruit crops. A high wind partially unroofed the New Prescott house.

SILOS BLOWN OVER

At the Twin Valley farm there, two silos were blown over and as they fell they split a large barn in halves.

Across the state line in Windham, N. H., lightning struck the home of John Tarella twice within a minute's time, causing a fire which did $1500 damage.

The storm damage to tobacco crops in the Connecticut Valley was estimated at between $150,000 and $300,000. It was most intense in a mile-wide belt from Manchester to Scantic, Connecticut, and damaged more than 800 acres of tobacco.

At Weld, Me., Mrs. Helen Sanborn was knocked unconscious when lightning struck her home. Her seven-months-old baby, playing in the same room, escaped harm.

DEATHS TOTAL FOUR

Four persons died in auto and drowning mishaps during the storm.

Ernest Sherman, 45, was killed when he fell from the rear of a truck in Cummington. A companion, Roscoe Liebenow, 43, suffered a fractured skull in the same accident. The men were thrown to the ground when the truck went over a bump.

Mrs. Elwyn Strong, 44, of Burlington, Vt., was killed in a crash at Huntington, Vt.

Drowning accidents took the lives of Francis Russell, 13, of Pittsfield and Alton Frasier, 22, of Lincoln, Me.

Doodles Draw Interest of Young, Old

The Doodles contest is luring both the young and the old.

It is that kind of a contest. Representing a form of scribbling doodling holds a fascination for the children who are learning to draw and for the grownups who find themselves scribbling during moments of stress or idleness.

Besides, there is money in it for the winners. Each day five one dollar bills are awarded to as many winners picked by the judges on the basis or humor and originality. Just scribble in the lines of the Doodles cartoons which appear daily, and send your Doodles to the Doodles Editor, 5 Winthrop Sq., Boston.

Theft of $400 Rings Probed in Back Bay

Police today probed the theft of three rings, valued at $400, from Mrs. Katherine A. Wright of Beacon st., Back Bay. She found the rings missing on her return from a week-end trip.

In a second burglary, staged in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Harvard st., Cambridge, thieves stole rings, watches and bracelets which were likewise valued at $400.

POLICE HUNT 3 BOYS

Three youths, the oldest hardly more than 15, were sought today as the trio who robbed Miss Winifred Antoniewicz, 21, of Middle st., South Boston, of her purse as she was standing at Dorchester and Vale sts., waiting for a street car. The bag contained $5.

PARKMAN FILES—Filing his papers for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, Henry Parkman, Jr., former corporation counsel for the city of Boston, talks things over with Margaret Lang, executive clerk, at City Hall.

PARKMAN'S PAPERS SIGNED BY 15,000

In last minute action, candidates for public office moved to get under the wire today with the deadline for the filing of nominating signatures set for 5 p. m.

Former Corporation Counsel Henry Parkman Jr., candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, headed the list of those preparing for the September primaries of both major parties.

Parkman said he had filed with the Boston Election Commission many more than the required number of voters' signatures in Boston alone, 15,000 voters had signed his papers, he said.

As the deadline neared and no other Republican candidate for the office had appeared, Parkman expressed belief he would be unopposed for the nomination. He is seeking the post held by Democratic Sen. David I. Walsh.

CURLEY NOT CANDIDATE

Meanwhile, former Gov. James M. Curley spiked reports that he would run for public office this year. His sole aim in 1940, he said, is to establish unity and harmony among the Democrats in the state. He feels that his political background is especially suited for the role of building up the party.

The announcement left the Democratic gubernatorial race confined to Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever and former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly. Sen. Walsh has no opposition.

OTHERS FILE

Others who filed were: Albert L. Fish of Boston, for Democratic nomination for secretary of state; State Auditor Russell A. Wood, Cambridge; Cong. Pehr G. Holmes of Worcester, and State Sen. Lawrence Curtis, Boston, for G. O. P. nominations for re-election to their present offices; George W. Roberts of Ward 4, Boston, for G. O. P. nomination for attorney general, and State Rep. Charles H. Innes, Republican, for re-election.

Baby Unhurt in 30-Foot Fall

A two-year-old Roxbury boy had an amazing escape from injury today when he fell 30 feet from the railing of a back piazza, receiving only minor bruises and abrasions.

The little victim, Richard Morris of Blue Hill ave., was examined at City Hospital, then sent home again in his mother's care. Doctors said they could find no injury sufficiently severe to require treatment.

Mrs. Morris said she was busy in the kitchen when the baby toddled out to the back porch climbed the rail and fell.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels. So ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Vandenberg Opposes U. S. Draft

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Proposals for compulsory military training were criticized today by Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan who said he questioned the necessity of peacetime conscription to fill the expanding ranks of the nation's armed forces.

President Roosevelt and the army high command have endorsed selective service as an essential element in the defense drive, but Vandenberg told reporters he was not convinced that "our ordinary reliance on volunteers" would fail to supply the necessary manpower.

As the Senate military committee was called into closed session on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill Vandenberg also indicated he did not see eye to eye with War Department proposals for mobilizing the National Guard's 235,000 men if conscription is voted.

Mobilizing the militia for a year's training, said Vandenberg might cause a "very cruel dislocation" in the homes of many guardsmen who "if not expect 'whole time service' with the regular land forces during peace time."

However, two members of the military committee, Gurney (R.) of South Dakota, and Minton (D.) of Indiana, announced that they would vote to recommend enactment of compulsory service. Minton, Democratic whip, announced:

"I'm for it if the War Department says it's necessary."

With the anticipated military training controversy shaping up, a House committee pursued its study of the navy share in President Roosevelt's new $4,848,171,957 recommendation for supplementary preparedness expenditures.

After the first day's closed hearing, Chairman Woodrum (D.) of Virginia, said yesterday it was apparent that the navy was "going ahead full speed" on its construction program, cutting many corners in the interests of speed.

HOLDUP NEWS TIP WINS $5

When daring bandits broke into exclusive Magnolia Casino one morning last week and held up more than a dozen employes to escape with $1800 it was thrilling news to a Boston man. And for his tip on the break he wins $5 first prize in the weekly Boston Record-Boston American-Boston Advertiser Tipster Contest.

As a result of the holdup police began one of the greatest manhunts ever staged in the state and these papers were enabled to give their readers an accurate account of the happenings.

Second prize of $3 goes to a Gloucester man for phoning in that a cabin cruiser was found sinking off Eastern Point, Gloucester, under mysterious circumstances.

THIRD PRIZE

Third prize of $2 went to a Roxbury man for the tip that a Roxbury girl, who was determined to find work, reported for a laborer's job dressed in overalls. As a result of the girl's demonstration she got an office job.

Single awards of $1 each go to a Back Bay woman who phoned in the tip that a police officer, employing a flying tackle, captured an auto thief; a Brookline girl for reporting an unusual accident on the Worcester turnpike; a Hyde Park woman for the tip that a Westwood man was found a suicide in his automobile; a Watertown man for the tip that thieves broke into the Watertown City Hall and escaped with arsenal plans; a South Boston man for the tip that 2700 South End welfare families were forced to go without milk because of a slipup in the distribution; a Brookline woman for a two-alarm fire which resulted in the arrest of two men.

OTHER AWARDS

Other $1 awards go to a Winchester man for the tip that an airplane crashed in Woburn; a Woburn man for reporting that Mayor Kane of that city planned to "streamline" the figures of his police officers; a Dorchester man for phoning in about a fire in which a mother rescued her children; a Dorchester girl for the tip that a prowler was captured in Dorchester; a Somerville man for the tip that 14 persons were rescued from a blazing cabin cruiser off Deer Island; a West Concord girl for reporting the death of a man atop a box car in Concord; a Danvers man for the tip that a boy was drowned after a boat capsized in Danvers; a Stoneham man for reporting a police chase which resulted in serious injuries to three boys after their machine overturned, and a Dorchester man for the tip that scores of passengers were forced to leave a tunnel train after it caught on fire.

If you see or hear of anything of news or picture value don't hesitate to get in touch with the News Tip Editor, Liberty 4000. Your tip may win a prize. Watch this column weekly for winners.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 23—I am not in the least surprised that Jack Warner was willing to loan his film prima donna Bette Davis to Sam Goldwyn. He gets Gary Cooper in return for "The Amazing Story of Sergeant York."

FILM STAR JUDY GARLAND who must curtail her night club activities on boss' orders, Louella O. Parsons reports today from Hollywood.

Gary is very like the Tennessee Sergeant of 1919, who was tall, slim, and rather retiring. Today the Sergeant who teaches a Bible class in his native town has grown rotund and is changed from the intrepid lad who was front paged for his bravery all over the country. He will be here to tell Gary first hand some of his experiences which were among the most thrilling of any World War hero.

Decorated by U. S. A., France and England, the courageous Sergeant captured almost an entire regiment of Germans all by himself.

DARRYL ZANUCK saw "Brigham Young" in the studio projection room Friday night and the first thing he did Saturday morning was to hand Dean Jagger a long term contract.

Funny about these movie breaks. Jagger hung around Hollywood for years without getting to first base and he had to go to New York to make Hollywood producers realize his value. Now he's not only set as a permanent fixture at 20th Century-Fox—but today it was announced that he will get the top spot in "Western Union"—which will be another spectacular epic.

ACTION LOVING DALTONS ON KEITH'S SCREEN THURSDAY

Kay Francis As Bandit's Girl

Those spectacular Daltons are back again—this time in "When the Daltons Rode," Universal's romantic adventure story of frontier days and dastardly Daltons.

The picture, in company with L. M. Montgomery's "Anne of Windy Poplars," starring Anne Shirley, is to have its New England premiere at the Keith Memorial Theater next Thursday.

It is based on Emmett Dalton's book of the same name and traces the careers of the ranch-owning Dalton boys who became front-page criminals. Climaxing the action is the historic raid on Coffeyville, Kans., in 1892, when the gang was destroyed while staging the old West's only double bank robbery.

Kay Francis, playing the first action role of her career, appears as the bewitching telegraph operator of Coffeyville, a character based on the real-life sweetheart of one of the Daltons. Randolph Scott plays a frontier lawyer who befriends the Daltons.

The four Daltons are played by Brian Donlevy, Broderick Crawford, Stuart Erwin and Frank Albertson. Andy Devine is cast as the Daltons' girl-chasing ranchhand. Others in the cast are George Bancroft and Mary Gordon.

George Marshall, who directed "Destry Rides Again," was the director.

"Anne of Windy Poplars" has a New England locale and a supporting cast headed by James Ellison, Patric Knowles, Sim Summerville, Louise Campbell and Marcia Mae Jones.

Walt Disney's new Donald Duck color cartoon, "The Bill Posters," and the latest newsreels round out the bill.

THE OUTLAW and the girl he loves are portrayed by Broderick Crawford and Kay Francis in Universal's "When the Daltons Rode," opening Thursday at the Keith Memorial.

THE biggest motor touring season in many years is under way in New England.

On every highway and in every city one sees automobiles bearing the registration plates of almost all the 48 States.

Last February the increase of tourists heading East was 20 per cent above the 1939 number.

It grew constantly and early in June it passed 30 per cent.

With no decrease in sight, August and September are expected to double and probably treble the influx of visitors.

New England's popularity is easily explained. Thousands who customarily went to Europe in the past now find remaining at home safer and much more satisfactory.

But the vast majority are spending their vacations at our shore and mountain resorts because experience has taught them that nowhere else in all the world is the scenery so beautiful or the climate so healthful.

A SUMMERTIME DUTY of every parent is to see that his child receives proper instruction in the ancient and very enjoyable art of swimming.

Often mothers and fathers can give the lessons themselves at a convenient beach or lake.

But if they can not, they can usually obtain professional instruction for their children at most shore and country resorts.

And it will be time and money well spent, for no other form of life insurance can ever quite equal an individual's ability to strike out confidently toward the safety of land when a boat overturns or some similar accident plunges him into deep water.

Actually, everyone can swim. Very probably our prehistoric ancestors crossed lakes and harbors without attention to fancy strokes and scientific crawls. They swam instinctively as horses, dogs and most animals still do.

But fear gradually caught up with man and made him increasingly helpless in water. This frequently gives way to panic, causing thousands to be needlessly drowned every year.

Fortunately, however, the fear is seldom deep-seated. Competent instruction usually removes it in a few days and permits normal persons to swim as Nature intended.

GOOD NEWS is contained in the Federal Housing Administration's announcement that new home construction in New England has increased as much as 200 per cent in the first half of this year.

Housing authorities point out that throughout our six States the trend in building is gradually changing.

Greater emphasis is being placed on the new lower cost homes designed for families in the average income brackets.

These structures are limited in size and are planned for small families, but the construction and plans are much the same as dwellings in higher price ranges.

Popular new developments feature homes for as little as $2800, but in the main those being built under the F. H. A. plan cost less than $5000.

To live on one's own land and in one's own home has always been a New England ideal.

It suffered a temporary set-back during the late depression. But it did not disappear. As the F. H. A. statistics convincingly demonstrate, the ideal is very much alive.

AN ACTRESS' LIFE is not always the bed of roses it seems to those in the paying section of theaters.

Miss Claudette Colbert, discussing her financial headaches in Hollywood, supplies interesting proof.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT
Taxes Take 79 Per Cent

Highest paid film star with an income of nearly half a million a year, Miss Colbert gives 79 per cent of her salary to Federal and State governments for taxes.

Her agent receives 10 per cent of the total. One-half of one per cent goes to the Motion Picture Relief Fund. And Social Security claims another share.

In addition, she is required to maintain a luxurious home, expensive automobiles and spend a minimum of $15,000 a year for clothes.

Despite all this, she is happy because she enjoys her work and her eminent position in the theater.

But, financially, she is hardly better off than many whose incomes are very much smaller.

On the Side

-:- -:- By E. V. DURLING

"ARE YOU in earnest? Seize this very minute! What can you do, or think you can do, begin it," said Goethe. Inspiring words. Almost put me in the mood to start my novel, but I am going to see Bob Hope in "The Ghost Breakers" and it goes on at 7:21 p. m. How about a slogan for Bob as follows: "Where there is Hope there is life" . . . Writes a widow of Baltimore: "Am six feet two inches tall. When my husband was alive I didn't mind my height because he was six feet three. Now I do not feel so happy about it. Especially not the other night at a dance when I heard a woman say of me, 'Who is that big horse?' I was dancing with a man of five feet six inches tall at the time."

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE RESTS BETWEEN ACTS
"Young Matron's Idea of Perfectly Proportioned Woman"

RACHEL FIELD is author of "All This and Heaven, Too." A little better than average novel but an unusually good title. Has been made into a film. Will be interesting to note attempts of theater owners to get all that title on their Marquee electric signs on double feature nights . . . Mrs. Stoddard Aldrich, professionally known as Gertrude Lawrence, is the average young matron's idea of the perfectly proportioned and well-dressed woman. Gertrude was born on the Fourth of July in London and has only been married twice so far. Mrs. Alma Ruffner Honeycutt was engaged at 11, married at 12, became a mother at 13 and was divorced when 14. Time certainly moved ahead for Alma. Yes, you guessed it. She lives in Tennessee . . . Attention of Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. A student of the subject says: "There is a belief in many religions that anyone who makes an effigy or a dummy will be called upon to provide a soul for it on Judgment Day" . . . "Cute" is said to be the word most used by females. I thought it was "Darling." With "vile" second. Maybe "vile" should be first. You hear women say "isn't it a vile day?" "What a vile looking hat." "Isn't the service vile here?" And so on and on.

A MAN TOLD me if coffee was ground just before being put on the fire a much better cup of coffee would result . . . Did you, sir, try putting olive oil on your face before shaving as suggested here? You can't go wrong with this if you want a really smooth shave . . . "I paid my way through college tending bar in Milwaukee" is what a man who is now a successful chemical engineer tells me. I believe it. I know a fellow who paid his way through Yale with his profits at playing poker . . . Ask your ma, mama or mother if she remembers the hobble skirt, peek-a-boo waists, the turkey trot, Francis X. Bushman, the shop window by Victoria Cross and Eva Tanguay singing "I Don't Care" . . . "Marriage is terrifying," said Robert Louis Stevenson, "but so is a forlorn old age."

ANECDOTE of the week, as told by Barclay Beekman, society columnist. "When Blanche Oelrichs was Mrs. Jack Barrymore, she was engaged in a heated argument with her husband when her athletic brother, Harry, alarmed at the uproar entered the room. Jack Barrymore, fearing his wife's brother was going to do him violence, cried out: 'If you are going to hit me, Harry, hit me in the body, but for Heaven's sake don't smash my nose.'" In relating the anecdote, Mr. Beekman was pointing out Mr. Barrymore was always proud of his profile.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

-:- MY DAY

HYDE PARK, July 23—Two young girls came to lunch with us Sunday and, while we sat talking, the news came that my husband's aunt, Mrs. Forbes, had died.

In the late afternoon, Miss Thompson and I drove down to Newburgh to see the family there and to find out if there was anything I could do

I telephoned my husband and Franklin, Jr., and Ethel. I went down yesterday afternoon, for the funeral service in Newburgh. I hope, since the interment is in Fairhaven, Massachusetts, our son John, will be able to meet his grandmother there.

I thought my husband looked rather tired and sad yesterday morning. I know that having only three members of the older Delano family left, will make a real break in a very close family circle

SUNDAY NIGHT Franklin, Jr., and Ethel had supper with us and we talked until late. Yesterday morning after my husband, Ambassador Bullitt and Miss LeHand arrived, Franklin, Jr., and I went out for a ride. It was pretty hot, however, and the flies made life miserable for man and beast, so we were not gone long.

Before coming in, we rode into the garden and Franklin, III, was put up on the saddle in front of his father. He seemed to enjoy every minute of the little walk which the big hunter took with him perched on his back.

When he was lifted off, he kept repeating, "Again, again," and seemed disgusted that there was no further ride in store. I was amused, for when we tried to put him on the pony by himself, he refused to have anything to do with riding.

I HAVE been asked to tell my readers that it is not an outright insurance by the government which guarantees their deposits in savings banks, but that banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Company, have their deposits insured to a maximum of $5000 per individual account.

They buy and pay for this insurance and the government does not contribute to it, but I think it is only fair to say that this was initiated by the present Administration in Washington.

It is only because the government is willing to do this for the banks that you, as an individual, can have up to $5000 insured in your savings bank account, if you choose a bank which takes advantage of this opportunity offered by the government. If this insurance had been available before 1929, a number of people might still have their life savings.

LEWIS "CHATS" WITH SHAKESPEARE

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, July 23—Sinclair Lewis prepared to write a series of articles about Spiritualism, by visiting the establishment of a spiritualist whose advertisement he had seen. Lewis met the medium and confessed that he was somewhat of a writer, interested in contacting the spirits of two other writers who bore very common names—William and Henry . . . The medium forthwith produced the spirits of the two departed writers, Henry and William—the latter so friendly that he spoke of himself as "Bill" . . . Lewis listened to their messages, and when the seance was over he thanked the medium. "By the way," was his parting word, "Henry was all right—that was Henry James. But I never knew that William called himself 'Bill.' I wonder how that must have sounded in those days—'Bill' Shakespeare . . ."

CHARLES WASHBURN, the press agent now touring with the Al Jolson show, garnered a great deal of space throughout the country with the news story concerning Jolson's injuries to himself last week . . . The recent show which Washburn press agented on tour was the short-lived play, "The Man Who Killed Lincoln." The play didn't last long enough for Washburn to pull the stunt for which he had made all arrangements—a stunt whereby members of a hastily formed association of Lincoln admirers were to kidnap Richard Waring, the actor who portrayed the role of Edwin Booth.

BECAUSE of the story that the customs officials refused to permit Mrs. Maurice Maeterlinck to bring her bluebirds into this country—and the pets therefore were ordered destroyed—she is being presented with more than a dozen bluebirds from her husband's admirers throughout the country.

BAD TIMING AND POOR JUDGMENT of distance resolved an incipient brawl between a high politico and a business executive into nothing more than an exchange of bad looks and names . . . It happened at a popular Cape resort, shortly after midnight and in view of approximately a score of excited spectators . . . Both principals have Boston headquarters . . . Equally exciting, if less unfriendly, is the expert toe-dancing of pretty Carol King, the young Boston ballerina who must be rated a discovery . . . Miss King is working at Lou Walters' Silver Beach Latin Quarter (West Falmouth) . . . Mr. Walters has an agreement with the lass to work at the Boston Latin Quarter in the fall.

A TELEGRAM FROM MR. WALTERS EXTOLLING (to put it mildly) the talent of Miss King, caused this corner to extend its traditional show-me attitude into action—an actual expedition, Sunday drivers regardless, to the Cape . . . Some, including Mr. Walters, are comparing this youngster with Harriet Hoctor, the toe-dancer of the 1925-'30 era who was a Ziegfeld pet . . . In this opinion, Miss Hoctor lacked the animation and the consummate grace Miss King shows at this early stage of her career . . . Not that Harriet wasn't a top performer . . . Similarly, a comparison of another Boston girl, Dorothy Deering, with Mary Lawlor, is out-of-line . . . Miss Deering is a pretty graduate of the Mary and Kay Corbett institution of higher dance learning . . . And her acrobatics are tricky and graceful . . . Miss Lawlor's best "trick" was a graceful (generally to waltz time) high kick . . . Few could kick higher, and none more interestingly than Mary, who is now Mrs. Lyn Lary, wife of the ballplayer . . . But Mary's acrobatics were mild indeed.

THESE COMPARISONS which we mention are part of the conception of the Latin Quarter's show, which, musically, is based on stars and their hits under the late flowering of the Ziegfeld genius . . . Janet Carroll sings "Rio Rita" quite fully as well as Ethelind Terry performed the song when the show "Rio Rita" was one of three concurrent Ziegfeld hits . . . Most strikingly reminiscent of the musical-comedy master is the presence as dancer and introducer of the Latin Quarter's show of Walter Donahue, brother of the great Jack Donahue . . . Walter is a carbon copy, and it isn't pale, of his lamented brother . . . In a way, Walter's resemblance in appearance and hoofing style is a handicap . . . Comparisons are inevitable, and the Jack Donahue talent was incomparable . . . But this Charlestown boy is good enough for anybody's cabaret . . . And the younger set, his wildest admirers, was not acquainted with Donahue the Elder.

MARY BETH HUGHES STARDOM BOUND

By Louella O. Parsons

Mary Beth Hughes

HOLLYWOOD, July 23—It's been a long time since there was talk of "another Jean Harlow"—but 20th Century-Fox think they have found her in Mary Beth Hughes, who is certainly as vividly blonde as the little Harlow was. Whether Mary Beth turns out to be the screen dynamite Jean was, remains to be seen—but mark her name down in your "future book" for stardom for there's no doubt about it, Mary Beth is going to be given every opportunity to click. Today she was assigned the star spot in Louis Bromfield's "Marching As To War," a Salvation Army epic.

Interesting the way these youngsters crop up in Cinderella fashion from time to time. Less than a year ago Mary Beth had just a bit in a Lana Turner picture, M-G-M did not take up her contract. So she went to 20th and really made a hit with the critics in "Four Sons." Now it looks as if she's on her way.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

IT WAS a hot summer afternoon and the district attorney walked slowly along Main st., responding listlessly to an occasional "Hi, Bill" or "Howyah Whipple" from fellow citizens with whom he had lived, boy and man for over 40 years.

He was on his way to the Yacht Club pier where a boat was waiting to take him and Special Officer Peters on a fishing trip, but his fish were to be caught elsewhere, for as he rounded the corner at Gilman's Drug Store, he went head on into a flabby, overdressed individual about his own age. The man stifled an angry comment with an amused laugh when he recognized William Whipple, with whom he had gone to school.

"WHY, it's little Willie," he drawled sneeringly. "How are you, sweetheart? Still the custodian of public virture?"

The District Attorney was visibly startled by the unexpected contact, but he covered it up with a smile.

"Hello, Harper," he said easily. "Haven't seen you for some time. Paying us a visit?"

The man addressed fell in line and he and the District Attorney walked along together. "Been out on the coast," explained Joe Harper. "Got a swell dump, near Santa Barbara. Made my pile on the ponies. You don't gamble do yuh Willie?"

"Not on horses," replied the District Attorney softly. "What's brings you back? Homesick?"

"And how . . ." Harper laughed loudly. "Couldn't resist looking the old burg over again. Hoped I might hear some dirt. Did Mae, my old girl, marry that soda jerker?"

"Yes, she married," said Whipple.

"And did you ever find out who robbed the iron mills . . . let's see . . . five years ago wasn't it?"

The District Attorney didn't answer right away. Then, "Yes," he said quietly, "we found out."

"Yeh," drawled Harper . . . "who?"

"You," snapped Whipple and jumped on him. Together they went down and rolled over fighting into the gutter. A crowd gathered and the squad car came roaring up, rushing Harper to the county jail.

LATER Whipple nursed a bleeding nose in the police station.

"You see," he explained to Patrolman Collins, "no one knew about the iron mills holdup, but Ed Fellows, the owner of the mill, myself and the guy who did it."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

TRIPE, that's what they are. Meaning most of these run-o'-the-mill movies. Tripe 'n' twaddle. Bilge and bunkum. Fizzle-dust that wouldn't fool a day-old duck.

But now and then there's one that really lives . . . goes places . . . loves, laughs, sweats, sobs, curses . . . reaches shaking hands to the stars, even out of a gutter.

That new one, f'rinstance, that's starring Brian Donlevy and Akim Tamiroff, "The Great McGinty." It'll be in your town by the time you read this. Donlevy and Tamiroff, those two would spell dynamite in any setting. However ga-ga. It's our rare good luck that Hollywood dared to line them up against Life-As-Is without a haircut.

MIND YOU, it isn't a pretty story. Anything but! Two men who'd gone wrong, derelicts in a tropical dive. A slovenly sneak thief behind the bar . . . a drunken drifter leaning over it. The scum of despair over mouths that had once been firm . . . eyes that had once burned and laughed.

Two men together in a tropical dive, sharing the same shameless fate.

Yet one had been honest all his life, save for one crazy moment. And the other had been a brigand always.

Yet each, in the end, got what he asked for, what he'd worked for.

WE'VE NEEDED that expose we smug, self-satisfied Americans. We're so sure that all the bigger, badder vice is in Alcatraz or Sing Sing instead of right under our criminally negligent noses.

Well, here's proof that it isn't—actual proof that checks with endless unwelcome evidence in our own lives. Here are "things we've known were going on" but took infinite pains not to face.

Face them now—and bring your High School Youngster with you. Or take that flag off your wall!

A bum and bandit, selling his vote, looking his state, trapped in the end in the hell he'd built himself. And the other? An irreproachable pillar of society. Respected citizen, valued worker, beloved father and husband.

Yet, in the end, as surely snared by the unexpected harvest of his own secret, secret sowing.

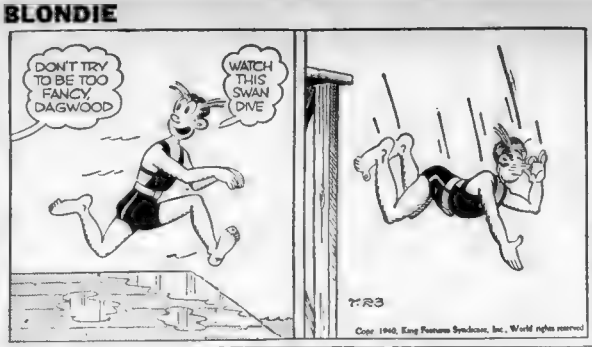
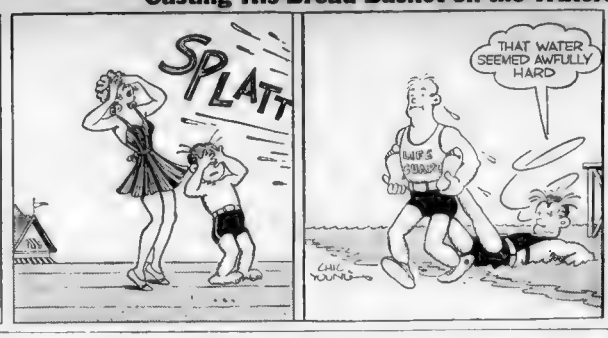
BLONDIE



Casting His Bread Basket on the Waters



THERE was a small ripple of excitement as she walked up the aisle because she looked altogether exquisite in her stiff, white satin and because her hair looked like a shining, pale candle flame under the mist of blue.

There was always a small ripple of excitement about May when she dressed up ready to go places, but it pretty soon died down when people got to know her. She promised so much with her platinum hair and her incredible resemblance to the girls on the lids of chocolate boxes that they felt let-down when they got to know her. She was so dumb!

Actually she wasn't, really. She was ordinary and natural and just plain sweet. She loved making cakes, loved children, and knitting for the troops, and Alan. Most of all she loved Alan who didn't and would never belong to her. But with the everlasting background of June, she was apt to appear dumb.

TOO "ARTIFICIAL"

June had been born exactly 13 and ¾ minutes after May and they were as unlike each other as any two sisters can be. They had nothing in common, not even their birthday. May's was on the last day of her name's month and June's on the first day of her's, which only goes to prove that the Mayhew twins were entirely unorthodox and different from any other set of twins.

All May's looks had ever done for her until five days ago, was to handicap her to such an extent that it was almost unbelievable. They were the wrong looks for her character, that [redacted] the trouble. She should have been little and a bit plump with a broad lap for babies to sit on and to look at her you ought to have thought of kitchens and steak and kidney pie done to a turn and row upon row of shining jams. As it was you thought of orchids and white fox coats and champagne and central heating.

Until she had been introduced to Alan, May had never exchanged more than two words with the sort of man she could love, because the sort of men who May might love were scared stiff of her Hollywood looks and the slightly husky voice that was entirely natural.

The Cast of Characters in "War Wedding"

MAY, a platinum beauty who is considered dumb.
JUNE, her twin sister.
ALAN, who likes May at a distance.
LARRY, preferred temporarily by June.

War Wedding

By Leonie Mason

They didn't believe, in their hearts, that her hair was naturally platinum—after all her twin's was definitely mouse—or that her three-quarter-inch eyelashes didn't get stuck on, painstakingly, in front of the mirror every morning.

Why couldn't she be natural like her sister, they thought.

Like June, who made the most of her smart, ugly face. Like June, who used more than twice the amount of makeup that May wore, but who looked, always, as if she did nothing of the sort.

"My Twin," June had said, cool, impeturbable, laconic as usual. "She got herself born first and grabbed all the looks." It was the sort of amusing, June-ish thing that Mary had had to compete with all her life. It gave the impression, somehow, that May had cheated, somewhere, and it also suggested, subtly, that June had grabbed all the brains.

Alan was nice to May. Awfully nice. But he quite obviously thought her an empty-headed fluffy blonde.

They didn't have to work, either of the Mayhews. But June had a knack of stringing words together and had got herself an exciting, amusing sort of job on the local paper, writing a biting, cynical column about everybody and everything. May had wanted to get a job, too, but she hadn't been trained for anything so there wasn't the remotest chance for her.

Until the war came and at last there was a chance for May to do something constructive, something that would keep her busy and not give her so much time to eat her heart out over Alan and the dangers he was facing in the Navy. Or the broken heart he was going to get over June who had come home the day before war was declared saying that Alan had joined his ship and that they were going to get married after the war.

June, who drove a car beautifully, got herself a glamorous job in the Ambulance Unit. May found out that they badly needed people to scrub floors and wash up in the canteen and tied up her dazzling platinum hair in an old bandana handkerchief and got down to work.

May looked down quickly at her hand as it lay on her father's arm during the walk up the aisle to where Alan was waiting, looking young and defenceless and grave in his navy blue and brass buttons. It was still pretty rough and pinklish, but the long, peaked sleeves of the wedding dress hid it and after all, what were hands when a country was fighting for its life?

During the first weeks of the war May had knitted like a fiend. There wasn't going to be anything that Alan should go without and June was far too busy bringing light and brightness into the lives of the Anti-Aircraft Battery who were stationed in Farmer Jordan's field to have time to sit home knitting.

She had given June the results of her work, diffidently. June would enclose them in her Christmas parcel to Alan, wouldn't she?

"Christmas parcel?" June said, "gosh, yes. I suppose I ought to. May, be an angel and make some cakes or something. I'll give you a letter to enclose . . . I'm so busy . ." she glanced at the clock, she was meeting her favorite subaltern in five minutes at the cinema.

"COME ALONG, TOO"

So May sent the parcel, putting in all the little things that only a loving heart can think of, and Alan thought it was a swell parcel. Or so June told her when he wrote.

When he came home on his first leave there were lambs kicking up their heels in the fields and primroses in the hedges and June had transferred her affections from the subaltern to a captain and Alan found a deal of time on his hands.

It was quite by accident that he came into the canteen where May worked. Rick Henderson was engaged to Mamie Trent who doled out the tea from the tall, gleaming urn in the corner, and Rick had met Alan when he was going along to pick Mamie up.

"If you're at a loose end," he said, "come along too. May Mayhew works there as well and we might make up a four."

They walked behind the counter of the canteen and found May up to her elbows in hot, greasy water. She had a dirty smear down her cheek and the strands of hair that escaped from the Bandana handkerchief curled enchantingly on her forehead in the steam. She looked exquisite. Like a film star playing at housekeeping, only somehow playing wasn't quite the word.

He asked her gruffly if she would tag along with Rich and Mamie and him.

Alan stared at her. Feeling ashamed that he had ever thought her fluffy or blonde or inefficient. He asked her, gruffly, if she would tag along with Rick and Mamie and him and her heart jumped so much that she couldn't think of anything bright or clever to say, just, "Thank you. I'd like to."

When she was off duty and she and Mamie had cleaned up at the sink and got into their outdoor clothes, Rick drove them along to a roadhouse 10 miles outside the town.

Almost the first person they saw when they walked in was June with her captain, and when it was time to go home, June's captain, whose name was Larry Temple, drove May and Alan home to save Rick driving four miles out of his way and wasting part of a precious coupon.

May sat stiffly in the back of the car with Alan. She was tired and her heart ached for him. He so obviously minded about Larry Temple although you could see he would rather die than admit it.

They probably all saw the pedestrian before Larry did, because he was bending toward June to whisper something into her ear, but even so it is unlikely that he could have stopped in time. The beam of a blacked-out headlamp doesn't allow much margin for error.

There was a sickening bump and a scream from June and May gripped her hands in her lap until the nails dug into the palms. And then suddenly there came a voice, June's voice. Shaky but distinct. "Drive on, Larry," it said, "don't be a fool. They'll say you were drunk. Nobody saw you . . . go on!"

For a split second Alan thought Larry was going to do as she said and he raised his arm to catch the handbrake, but Larry switched off the engine and put his face in his hands.

MAY'S TRIUMPH

Alan felt a cold rush of air as the door swung open on May's side of the car and then she was gone into the utter darkness. Her voice came back to him, husky, sweet and very steady.

"Back the car and turn so that your headlights shine this way, Larry," she said, "come on, June, you've done some first-aid."

June's voice rose hysterically.

"You're mad, May. Come back at once. Larry drive on I tell you. If you can't think of yourself, think of me. I don't want to be involved in a motoring scandal."

Alan managed to say "Shut up" loudly and definitely as he got out of the car "Turn her round, Temple," he said, "and sit on that woman if she won't keep quiet any other way . . ."

She was sitting in the front pew now, the woman they had knocked down, with only a small strip of plaster under her dowdy hat to show for it. She smiled at May as she passed her and sent up a silent prayer that she would be happy with the tall man she obviously loved so much.

They were standing at the altar together, the two of them, and Alan's hand found hers and held it tightly, hurtfully, for a moment, before the first words of the service broke over their heads like a wave. A fortnight ago the accident had been . . . five days ago Alan had asked her to marry him . . . tomorrow he would go back to the war, but this time he would know that her heart went with him.

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered together . . ."

THE END.

You Can Be Beautiful

Minty Cream Cools You Off

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN you begin to think that even a howling blizzard would be a lovely thing . . . and that ice on the pavement is better than shimmering heat waves . . . it's time to readjust your beauty routine to take in all the comfort-making items you can find!

Instead of slipping up on your use of creams, because they're so sticky and hot-making . . . use one which is minty, and so cool it's more like a touch of our famed east wind than a cream. It's brand new . . . and as an introductory special you may have a tremendous jar at half-price during this month!

When we say tremendous we mean HUGE . . . even at the regular $2 price it's a buy, at $1 it's unbeatable!

You'll like the sparkling white jar with its sea blue label . . . . you'll like even better the touch of the soothing, light stuff on your hot, uncomfortable skin.

It's a gentle, refreshing feeling that you get, with a certain "lift" that seems to crisp your complexion. It actually has a slight stimulating property, so that your skin which looked dull and dead beat a few moments before will take on a rosy glow.

As with all the famous preparations of this 40-year-old house, this cream has a singular claim to fame . . . it is hand made! Hand made and hand whipped guarantees a wonderful consistency, extremely smooth. And remember that only the best ingredients are ever considered worth while when it comes to hand-made methods . . . they're to expensive, too finicky to be wasted on ordinary materials!

If you'd like to learn all about this remarkable minty cleansing cream, $1 for the tremendous $2 jar, and a summer treat, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

COOL in her pretty plaid silk jersey dinner frock . . . Anne Baxter . . . and her skin as cool as a gardenia just out of the glassed-in iciness of a florist's shop . . . because she's used a special minty, stimulating cleansing cream, like the one Arline Gould describes today, a life saver for heat wave frazzled complexions.

STUDY ARTISTS' METHODS RATHER THAN COPY

An inspiration to those who like to draw—the great illustrators who appear in national magazines. If you could only follow in their footsteps!

Perhaps you have even tried to draw like a favorite artist and failed, thinking discouragedly you have no talent. More likely you have been going at it the wrong way.

Following professional methods, many problems that have baffled you become simple. In home study, with the aid of charts and diagrams, you can learn to draw the human figure well.

Instead of trying to do outlines and details all at one time, you learn to analyze the body in simple geometric forms, drawing it section by section as the diagram shows.

In our 40-page booklet, A Simple Course in Illustration and Advertising Art, Arthur Zaidenberg gives professional instruction—with 237 illustrations and diagrams—on drawing the figure, adding details of features, clothing, expression. Explains light and shade, foreshortening, perspective, composition, the drawing of horses and dogs.

BAKED SAUSAGE ROLLS WITH SPAGHETTI

10 slices fresh bread, sliced thinly
Prepared mustard
10 small link sausages
1 large (24½ oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce

Trim the crusts from bread, spread lightly with prepared mustard. Cook the sausages in a skillet; heat the spaghetti. Roll a cooked sausage in each slice of bread and secure with toothpicks. Place in a pan and bake 15 minutes or until toasted lightly. Place hot spaghetti in center of platter. Arrange the toasted sausage rolls in a border around the spaghetti, then garnish with slices of fresh cucumber pickle and sprigs of parsley. (Makes five servings—two sausage rolls per serving.)

Meat Timbales Finish Up Your Last Sunday's Roast

By MARTHA LEE

A CURTAIN CALL for last Sunday's roast may be the best part of a whole new performance. Chopped meat surrounding savory dressing in ramekins is dress for the old trouper listed on the cast of characters as Meat Timbales.

Meat Timbales may be made of any cooked meat—ham, beef, pork, turkey, or chicken. Excellent table companions are hot stuffed eggs and mushroom gravy.

MEAT TIMBALES

2 cups chopped meat
1 egg
Salt
Pepper
Dressing
1½ cups bread crumbs
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup melted fat
3 tbsp. water

Mix meat with egg and seasoning. Line well-greased ramekins with this mixture, leaving the center for the dressing. Mix the dressing in the order given and press into the center of the cups. Bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Makes 6 servings.

Tuna Fish Puff is another good dish, good for appetites as well as budgets. Tuna fish, or salmon, if salmon is handier, combines with bread crumbs, milk and eggs to become a steaming fluffy casserole dish.

TUNA FISH PUFF

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tbsp. minced onion
2 cups milk
1 cup flaked tuna fish
4 eggs

Combine crumbs, salt, mustard, onion and milk in saucepan and cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Add tuna fish. Remove from heat and pour over eggs which have been slightly beaten. Pour into greased custard cups or greased casserole dish, set in pan of warm water and bake in moderate hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

For that freshly caught fish the masculine part of the family brings home, plan a Celery Bread Dressing. Bake the fish slowly with the dressing, and serve it with Lemon Sauce and parsley garnish.

BAKED FISH WITH LEMON CELERY DRESSING

6 cups bread cubes
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
1 tbsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup hot water
½ cup melted shortening
1½ to 2 lbs. halibut or salmon steak

Combine all ingredients except fish and place in well-greased shallow baking dish. Place fish on top, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1½ hours. Makes four to six servings.

SAUCE

Just before serving beat 2 egg yolks until 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 cup medium white sauce.

Boston After Dark

—By GEORGE HOLLAND—

Collier and Ann Andrews at the Cape Playhouse troupe prepared "Our Betters," a Somerset Maugham minor item . . . An Arlington girl, June Rowland, is reported to have been scouted by the Shuberts. She is a singer, and interested bystanders say Miss Rowland has everything.

ATTENTION RHUMBA-CONGA DEVOTEES: Johnny Cole has been featuring waltzes and polkas at the Sheraton Roof . . . A library of original Polish polkas inherited by the Sheraton leader from his dad (who was a prominent musician), inspired the decision . . . Both tempos have proved very popular, but Maestro Cole was surprised to observe the ready manner in which expert thumbs dancers adapted their styles to the polkas . . . He thinks that, the search for novelty being what it is, a waltz-polka renaissance is a distinct possibility, with Boston as the buthplace of the vogue.

INCOME NOTE: The mother of a Bay State officeholder paid an income tax on $30,000,000 plus (amounting to more than a million dollars), and the son passed over nearly $180,000 to Uncle Sam . . . Politics had nothing to do with the case . . . The police have a lead to a Fagin surpassing the fictional one, a dapper gent with a Back Bay residence and an Oriental housebuy . . . He is supposed to be supervising the tutelage of youngsters in groups of 20 in the arts of purse-snatching, pocket "hoosting" and pocket picking.

LOANS
AT REDUCED RATES

Reduced rates cut payments on all loans over $100

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now a new reduction has cut Household's rate to 2% per month on that part of your loan in excess of $100.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers with you.

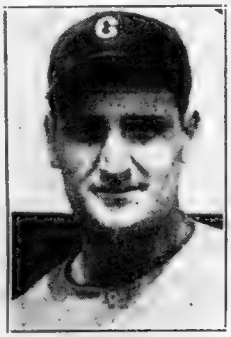
By JACK CONWAY

ZEKE BONURA'S batting is expected to be of help to the crippled Cubs as they try to get going again in the National League race.

President Clark Griffith of the Senators stated he got $10,000 for Bonura. This amount will appear small in the event Bonura has one of his old time batting streaks.



ZEKE BONURA

Bonura will play first base for the Cubs. It is seldom that a ball club has had as much misfortune with players as has been experienced by the Cubs. It recently lost the services of both of its first basemen. Glen (Rip) Russell was put out of the game with appendicitis, while Phil Cavarretta was removed from action by a fractured ankle.

Conditions were so bad in Chicago that Charley Grimm, former Cubs manager, agreed to get a leave of absence from his job as a baseball announcer to play first base for his old club. Grimm's offer was not accepted and Hank Lieber, outfielder, was moved to first base to temporarily fill the gap.

Bonura is not much of a fielder, but if he is able to hit he will prove his value to the Cubs.

It was in Chicago as a member of the White Sox that Bonura scored some of his greatest hitting triumphs. The big fellow was always able to hit the agate a mile when he was right. Jimmy Dykes did not like Zeke's fielding and traded him to the Senators. From Washington Bonura went to the Giants, but he was later sent back to the Senators by Bill Terry.

Returning to the scene of his former hitting triumphs, Bonura will find Windy City fans rooting for his success. They would like to see their old favorite score new successes for the Cubs.

Replacements Needed If a Club Is to Win

THE PURCHASE of Bonura by the Cubs emphasized the importance of replacements to a ball club. It has been said by veteran managers that no major league club is any stronger than its secondary defense. Since the lively ball was introduced and baseball became more of a wide open game there has been greater danger of injury to the players.

Last season the Bees found out what it is to be without the necessary replacements when Tony Cucinnello and Eddie Miller were forced out of the game with injuries. This year the Bees have had greater utility strength, and have had the necessary players to fill in gaps when they have been needed.

The Red Sox have also been fortunate in the matter of reserves. Lou Finney was purchased from the Athletics for $10,000 and it was intended to use him as an understudy for Jimmy Foxx and for an occasional fling in the outfield. Finney has more than come up to expectations. When given an opportunity to play regularly this spring. Finney developed into one of the greatest batting stars in the American league.

Dominic DiMaggio has also proved a valuable player for the Sox. When placed in the regular lineup, the youthful Coast sensation has displayed remarkable fielding ability, amazing throwing powers, speed on the bases and sharp hitting.

Clubs with extensive farms systems like the Red Sox, Bees, Cardinals and Yanks are able to keep young players on minor league clubs, but within reaching distance when their services are needed for the parent organization.

Dog Racing Opens at Raynham Tonight

DOG RACING WILL return to Bristol County tonight when a 75-night meeting gets underway at the new Raynham track. Russ Murray, General Manager at Raynham, has everything in readiness for the grand opening.

Murray was General Manager during the early years of Wonderland Park, and has the necessary experience to move things along at Raynham without any unnecessary delays.

There are an abundance of top greyhounds at Raynham, and they are expected to furnish thrilling contests. Numerous greyhounds have turned in fast times at the recent schooling races held at Raynham under the supervision of the Massachusetts Racing Commission. The Commission insists that all dogs that are to race at a track first take part in schooling contests so that the public may get a proper line on the greyhounds.

Random Shots at Target

IT HAS BEEN revealed that a group of alleged smart gamblers went for a large sum of money on the Armstrong-Jenkins bout on a report that the Texas lightweight was sure to win . . . If this particular group of gamblers knew Armstrong and Eddie Mead, his manager, they would have realized there was not a chance of Hammering Henry failing to give his best efforts in the ring.

CRONIN URGED TO SHIFT HILL WORRIES TO COACH

CHICAGO, July 23—The Red Sox open a do-or-die western trip with the Chicago White Sox this afternoon, and the Boston writers have been after Joe Cronin to relinquish one of his manifold duties, namely, the handling of pitchers, and let Coach Frank Shellenback take over the job with no restrictions.

They point out that Jimmy Dykes lets Muddy Ruel have exclusive domain over the White Sox hurlers, and no pitching staff in the league has been getting better results.

As a result, a club that was figured on going nowhere this season is now in fifth place, only two games behind the fourth place Yankees and only four games behind the Sox themselves, who were rated a sure fire pennant contender last spring.

CRONIN TOO BUSY

Cronin has been trying to play shortstop, watch both the bull pen working pitchers and run every other detail of the club. That is too much for one man, especially when he has his own game to worry about.

It is no secret that poor pitching has cost the Sox several pennants in the past, and the writers want to see what Frank Shellenback can do with the staff.

Shellenback for years was a great spitball pitcher in the Pacific Coast League after a three-year-tenure with the White Sox, and he is rated a fine coach.

As a non-player, it is believed he would be in a far better position to oversee the pitching than his chief.

Depending for the most part on men who have failed to win 10 games a year in the past, the Sox must get miraculous results from them from here in if they are to stay up. And if Cronin couldn't get it out of them for the past four years, how can he expect them to perform miracles now. So let Shellenback have the job, the writers urge. Surely, it couldn't be for the worse, and probably it would be for the better.

THINGS LOOKING UP

The Sox today were five games behind the Detroit Tigers. Only last Wednesday they were but ½ game behind the then league leading Indians. That's a big dive in less than a week.

But with Jim Tabor back and Lou Finney about to get back, they are in a good spot to clean up on this trip if the pitching improves. If the hurlers flunk out here, all hope is lost.

During the past week, Jim Bagby has been showing his '38 form, and Earl Johnson and Fred Ostermueller have been great.

Herb Hash gets his chance to come back this afternoon, and Denny Galehouse is scheduled to work tomorrow.

If these two can get into good working condition again as they were a month ago, prospects would be brighter. It is felt that regular duly would be one way to help them, and the writers feel that Shellenback would get them in some sembiance of working order.

Reds Play 2 In Brooklyn

Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers bump headlong into another "showdown" series today with the National League championship hanging in the balance, according to the Associated Press.

For Brooklyn, at least, the doubleheader today and the night game tomorrow night loomed as the most vital tests of the season.

The Reds are racing along at an almost unbelievable pace with 14 victories in their last 16 games.

If Cincinnati is going to be kept from repeating in the senior circuit, this winning streak will have to be curbed quickly and the Dodgers can't count on much help from the other Eastern clubs the Reds will be playing in the next two weeks.

DODGERS SKID

The champs took the New York Giants apart in three games over the week-end, dropping them 11 full games behind first place and apparently out of pennant contention for the rest of the year.

This put the task of sidetracking the Reds squarely up to the Dodgers themselves, and the prospect was not too promising, even for ardent Flatbush fans.

The two rivals have met in five series this season, dividing the first four evenly, and when the scales finally tilted, it was in Cincinnati's direction.

The Reds beat Brooklyn two games out of three in Crosley Field a few days ago, helping put the Dodgers on the skids that brought them home today five games behind the lead.

The Dodgers won only six games and lost eight during their recent western invasion and finished with fat old Freddy Fitzsimmons carrying the load as the team's surest winning pitcher.

REDS HAVE PITCHING

In contrast the Cincinnati staff has been functioning so well that the starting pitcher has worked the complete game in ten out of the last eleven contests.

Both major leagues shifted scenery yesterday, an open date, and came up for new intersectional stands today.

$200,000 Spent on Bucs For Rebuilding

PITTSBURGH, July 23 (AP)—Bill Benswanger, president of the Pirates, disclosed today that since last fall he has spent $200,000 for players alone to put "new blood" into the team whose morale was upset for a whole years by its 1939 debacle.

And he's ready to put more cash on theline to get the Pirates back into the pennant class.

After letting the championship slip out of its grasp in 1938, the club had a defeatist complex in 1939 and Benswanger realized he would have to rebuild the lineup. He hired aggressive Frankie Frisch as manager and started spending.

"That $200,000 doesn't include $150,0000 for a battery (Long John Gee and Ray Mueller) that went to the minors almost without a start," Benswanger reflected.

The "new blood" includes First Baseman Elbie Fletcher, whose 63 runs-batted-in lead the league; Frankie Gustine, 20-year-old second baseman batting .319; catches Spud Davis and Al Lopez; Outfielders Maurice van Robays, Vince DiMaggio and Bob Elliott.

SHOWDOWN TODAY—Bill Werber, Bucky Walters and Ernie Lombardi, members of N. L. champion Cincinnati Reds, who tied into Brooklyn in double header today.

Gillette Again To Broadcast World Series

CHICAGO, July 23—Rights for broadcasting the 1940 World's Series have been awarded to the Gillette Safety Razor Company by Judge Landis. It is the second consecutive year that these rights have been granted to the Gillette Safety Razor Company.

In view of the close pennant races in the American and National Leagues, baseball interest is running high, and as a result there should be more importance than ever attached to this year's World's Series.

The broadcast under sponsorship of the Gillette Safety Razor Company is certain to make a wide appeal.

West Out As Bees Face Cubs

By BILL GRIMES

During the next fortnight, the Bees will play 17 games against the Western clubs, starting with a single contest against the Chicago Cubs this afternoon at National League Field.

The Bees arrived home battered and torn.

They broke even with the Cubs in a four-game series at Wrigley Field but then Max West and Gene Moore were forced out of the lineup through injuries, and they lost four to the Cards, the odd verdict of a three-game series to the Reds and three straight to the Pirates.

WEST STILL OUT

When they started the last trip, the Bees were clicking. They wound up a home stay by taking two great games from the Dodgers.

It looked as though they were going to move up into fifth place. But after his three run homer in the All-Star game in St. Louis, West crashed into the fence trying to pull down a Luke Appling drive. Max attempted to carry on when he reached Chicago but his back was so lame he was unable to bend.

Finally, he was sent home by Manager Casey Stengel. West has been undergoing treatment by Dr. Eddie O'Brien and, although his condition has improved somewhat, he will not be in the lineup, at least, until tomorrow.

Soon after West went on the injured list, Moore came up with a "Charley horse" and was lost to the club. West and Moore are important cogs in the Bees' offense. And, with the pitching below par, the Stengeleers didn't have a chance to make a respectable showing on this trip.

"You think you've seen football squads which have been banged up," declared Casey, this morning at National League Field. "Well, let me tell you, you ain't seen nothing until you go down to our dressing room and take a peek at my players.

WEST TOO WILLING

"Along about the time we pulled out, or possibly I should say, staggered out of St. Louis, I didn't think we'd make it.

"We had a lot of luck on this trip but it was all bad. I knew Mr. Jinx had us when I saw West crash into the wall over in St. Louis. That is a tough and game kid but no human being could weather such a collision.

"All the way up to Chicago, he kept telling me he'd be all right. But I knew different. He insisted he was all right and did play against the Cubs in the Windy City. But he played wholly on his nerve.

"It was a tough blow to the Bees when I had to take West out of the lineup. You know that any kid who connected with a three run circuit clout in a National-American League All-Star game acquires an abundance of confidence.

"West would have capitalized

DUDES—They may not be pennant winners but the Boston Bees surely know how to dress. Here are some of the boys as they arrived home after retreat from Moscow. 10,000 Sons Of War Vets At Bees' Game

State Commander "Wolfie" Jacobs was to have 10,000 sons of Veterans of Foreign Wars as his guests at National League Field this afternoon.

Tomorrow there'll be about the same number of Boston Park kids on hand to watch the second game of the Bees-Cubs series and also the finals of the Bill Mullen's Park Department pitching championships.

Bees Send McElroy Home

Wilbur McElroy, 19-year-old right handed pitcher, picked up by Manager Casey Stengel last winter on the Coast when Judge K. M. Landis went to town on the Detroit Tigers, is en route to his home in California.

When Judge Landis declared McElroy a free agent, Stengel signed him to a Bees' contract. "Mac" looked very promising in the South, but an old arm injury backed up on him, when he was sent to the York, Pa., club of the Inter-State League.

For more than a month McElroy has been working out at National League Field but his arm continued to bother him. Recently, he was examined by Dr. Eddie O'Brien, and was advised to rest his arm until next spring.

PETER MAHER DIES

BALTIMORE, July 23 (AP) — Peter Maher, 71, one of the last of the fighters in the old bare knuckle days more than 40 years ago, was dead here today.

Maher was born at Galway, Ireland. In 1869 and began fighting when 13 years old. When still in his teens, he fought exhibitions with the famed John L. Sullivan and Peter Jackson, and it was at Sullivan's suggestion that Maher came to the United States.

Empire Handle $691,696 Daily

By Associated Press

With six days to go, the Empire City meeting has had a daily average handle of $691,696, or only about $2000 behind the average at Belmont Park. This is by far the most prosperous meeting the plant ever enjoyed.

After Saturday's closing program the ponies will go northward for the five-week meeting at Saratoga.

It is expected that the Flash Stakes, one of the opening day feaures at the Spa, will bring out what may be the champion two-year-old of the year. He is Grail Bird, a bay colt by Sir Gallahad III-Heloise and owned by the Falaise stable. He has been burning up the tracks in his workouts

Giant Buddy Baer Too Muscle Bound To Slug Golf Ball

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—Henry Armstrong tells close friends he's about ready to hang 'em up . . . Suppose you noticed that, war or no war, 90,000 turned out in Berlin for the finals of the German football championships.

Everybody here pulling hard for Eddie Gallani, racing writer for the World-Telegram, seriously ill in a hospital . . . Buddy Knox of Dayton, perhaps the busiest heavy in the U. S., tries for his 12th victory of 1940 against Chuck Crowell of Chicago.

HERE'S A LAUGH

The Uniontown (Pa.) speedway will guarantee you $35 for risking our life in its A. A. A.-sanctioned race Aug. 11—that is of you are among the 10 fastest qualifiers . . . However, if you are in the second 10 you are guaranteed $25, so form a line to the right, boys.

Bucky Walters of the Reds will tell the kids at the World's Fair how to pitch tomorrow . . . Buddy Baer, one of the hardest hitters in the heavyweight ranks, can't hit a golf ball much harder than little Paul Runyan . . . His lightweight shots amaze his partners—too muscle bound to sock 'em hard, they say . . . All attendance and betting marks will be shattered at the Empire City racing meeting which ends Saturday.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Lawrence Luetkewitte, Jefferson City (Mo.):

"Why should Jim Farley have any objection to a third term? . . . Isn't he thinking about buying the Yankees who are campaigning for their fifth?"

Frankie Frisch tells the story that if Stan McGinnis, now one of the biggest restaurateurs on Broadway, had beaten him out of a berth on the Fordham team, he (Frisch) probably would not have continued in the game and become one of its brightest stars . . . There are only 1800 stalls at Saratoga and track officials have received requests for almost twice that number.

Bob Feller (good days and bad) has averaged more than eight strikeouts per game since entering the American League . . . Up at Saratoga they expect the Spa will be wide open again this summer with the lid off all the gambling joints and the whole town going full blast as in the good old days.

HOSS LAUGH

That's a real horse laugh coming from old Man O' War's stable out at Lexington . . . Only a few months ago they were comparing Bimelech to "Big Red" . . . and here's Bimelech already beaten by three runners who couldn't have run in the same league with Man O' War . . . so forgive the old gent for a few hearty guffaws.

There ma ybe others (we doubt it) but Mr. Amos Alonzo Stagg most likely is the man in athletics of whom it can be said "the sun never sets on his proteges" . . . When the old man visited Honolulu recently, two of the hundreds who called to pay their respects were former U. of Chicago athletics.

Money. Don't ask friends. It's embarrassing. See the Money to Loan Ads in the Record-American.

Sforza Threat In 126 Class At Dilboy Show

The presence of two champions in the field for the featherweight crown in the Golden Gloves finals at Dilboy Field, Somerville, should provide the fans with some fancy fistic action in this division of the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W. amateur boxing show tomorrow night.

New England champion Harold Harris, Malden, and State titlist Francis Doyle, Roxbury, will have to step at top-speed to withstand the threats of Al Sforza, North End, and Bob Perron, Lowell.

Al Sforza

In the eliminations, Sforza showed to fine advantage and appears to be a most serious threat. The North End youngster defeated Doyle while gaining the favor of the fans with his clowning.

Billy Daley, Roxbury, Jimmy Kelley, Lowell, Jimmy Esposito, Brookline, and Steve Bomal, Lowell, form the opposition in the 135-pound class. Daley holds the New England championship while Bomal, a promising prospect, wears the Boys' Club crown.

In the 147-pound class, Gene Boulden, Providence, Ray Buckless, Saugus, and Dave Andrews, Lowell, should stage a three cornered match with Mike Corcoraza, Haverhill, rating dark horse choice.

Billy Connolly, Roxbury, State champion, tops the field in the middleweight class. John Lycurgus, Boston, Hilton Johnson, Providence, R. I., and James Rosato, Winchester, will provide the competition.

Cambridge Pat Devine, New England champion, rules the heavyweights who will include John Pretzie, Boston, Bill Dupee, Cambridge, and Dave Horblit, Boston.

4 Worcester Girls in Bretton Woods Meet

BRETTON WOODS, N. Y., July 23—Four members of the Worcester Women's Swimming Association, will compete in the third annual invitation swimming carnival at Mt. Washington Hotel pool here.

The group is headed by Dorothy Leonard, N. E. A. A. A. U. senior 100 meters free style champion and former national 220 yards free style title holder. Miss Leonard will compete in the 220 and 440 yards free style events. Gertrude Klaucke, national junior 100 meters free style champion, will be in the 50 and 100 meters free style.

Dorothy Cantwell will be seeking honors in the 100 meters back stroke and breast stroke events.

Barbara Lynch, N. E. junior 220 yards free style champion, will compete in the 100 meters.

Bo-Bo Laughs at Docs, Tries Will Treatment

DETROIT, July 23 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are pinning a big portion of their pennant hopes on the boasted and proven recuperative powers of the bones that form big Louie (Bo-Bo) Newsom's stature.

Involded this time are two small bones in the thumb of his right hand—the hand that pitched 13 of the 52 victories which make the Tigers leaders of the American League — and Newsom promises that the double fracture he received July 17 at Boston will be mended enough to pitch by Saturday.

"When Bo-Bo wants a fracture to heal, it's going to heal in a hurry and no doctor is going to say how long it has to take," says Newsom.

WANTS ACTION

"Bo-Bo wants to get back in there and pitch the Tigers to the pennant."

Physicians disagree on how long it will take, but the boys in the bleachers believe if old Bo-Bo says he can pitch by Saturday, he can, and perhaps stretch his winning streak to 14 games. He is aiming at the American League record of 16 consecutive victories.

Didn't he injure the same thumb in 1933 while playing with Los Angeles and go on ti finish the season with 31 victories against 11 losses?

COMEBACK KID

Didn't old Bo-Bo have a fractured kneecap that would have kept many a player out for the season, and didn't he come back after two months to win 10 games for the Washington Senators in 1934?

And wasn't that the fourth time he had fractured his right leg?

Well, the fans figure as they eye the pennant, if he could come back after four fractures of the same leg, a thumb that hasn't been fractured but twice won't worry a pitcher like old Bo-Bo.

Dream Race At Hollywood

Out in California they are getting somewhat worked up over the impending meeting between Challedon and Kayak II in the $50,000 Gold Cup at Hollywood Park.

They call it the "Dream Race," no less. Challedon reached Hollywood yesterday after a transcontinental haul from Boston and has four days to prepare for the test.

He has met the Argentine horse twice before and beaten him twice, but Kayak's supporters on the Coast stiff are far from convinced.

Kentucky Hits Harness Racing

Luckily for the thoroughbred game in Kentucky, that state's new law which taxes the purses of harness racing 15 per cent will not apply to running races, which are supervised by the State Racing Commission.

The knowledge that the state intended taking such a hunk right off the top of the purses might prevent many a racing owner shipping to the Blue Grass State.

WHIZZER WAITER AGAIN

BOULDER, Col., July 23 (AP)—Byron (Whizzer) White, who paid income tax on $15,000 for one pro football season with the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be waiting table in a co-ed boarding house if he can get the University of Colorado summer school courses he wants.

"I waited table for my board when I was in school here and when I came up to see about registering for the summer session I was offered a job again," explained the Whizzer, All-America halfback at Colorado in 1937 and the nation's leading collegiate football scorer.

"It's a good way to earn your food and you don't make money going to school."

White was forced by the European war to give up Rhodes Scholarship study at Oxford.

If he registers here, he said, he'll probably take the board job unless it conflicts with classes. It would be at the house of his fraternity, Phi Gamma Delta, operated during summer school as a boarding house for women students.

White gave up pro football after the 1938 season to accept a Rhodes Scholarship. Leaving the war zone last fall, he entered the Yale University Law School.

He said he planned to reutrn to Yale next fal lfor more work toward a law degree.

Arlington Meet Closes Saturday

Arlington Park's record "golden 30 days" of racing will be brought to a colorful climax Saturday with the $55,000 Arlington Futurity for two-year-olds. Virtually every ranking stable in the country nominated horses to the futurity, which closed in 1938 with 425 entries. It is likely that about 15 will go to the post. Andy K. was a surprise winner last year, after Bimelech had been withdrawn because of a muddy track.

on that homer, and the Bees would have cashed in if he'd been smart enough to say "How-da-ya-do" to that drive off Appling's bat. But, I guess Max has too much college spirit. He certainly gave that ball the old college try.

"When I was obliged to bench West, I thought maybe Mr. Jinx would quit us. But I was wrong. His next victim was Moore, who had been playing better ball than he has shown in two years. A 'Charley horse' r hbed us of Moore's services, and we were down to rock bottom.

"I had no more outfielders, so I sent Rowell to right field, and assigned reliable Johnny Cooney, who, although he is listed on our roster as a coach, is rapidly becoming the most valuable man on the pay roll.

"He filled in at first base, while Hassett was recovering from his collision with Dolph Camilli, and did a great job. Then, before Hassett was really ready to return to action, West was lost, and Johnny took over the center fielder's duties. Cooney will always be an "ace" in my book.

'WE'LL GET GOING"

"Just as soon as West returns to the lineup, I believe we'll start going again. And, if we have shaken Mr. Jinx, I still believe the Bees will be close to the first division, when the winner of the 1940 race dashes under the wire."

"What was the matter with Sibby Sisti Sunday?" ; "r observer asked Casey. "I see you took him out of the lineup in the second game."

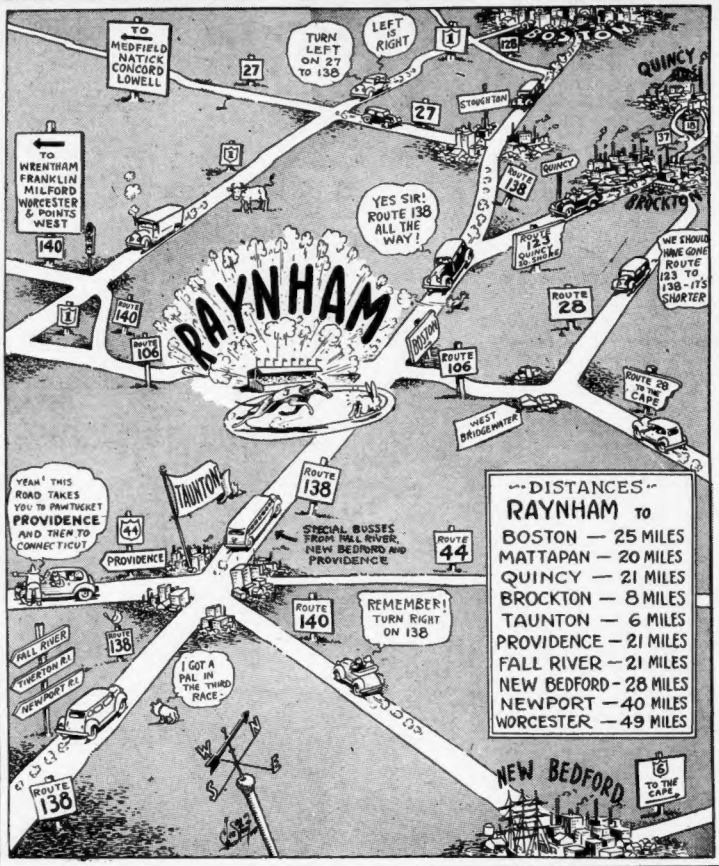
"He was down. The thermometer was close to 100 degres Fahrenheit and he had been racing all over Forbes Field. Then he got a crack on the leg with a fast ball and I saw that he was 'down' so I took him out. He's far too valuable to gamble with under the conditions.

"I suppose you saw that I sent Weitelmann to third base. Well, let me tell you that kid looks better every time I see him. He can't miss being a big leaguer.

"As you know he's hiting left-handed for the first time since he played American Legion junior ball. He got two hits against Toledo, which is Double A ball, and Sunday, he slapped an outside pitch down the felt field line for two bases. And, of course, he figured in a double play.

"Mark my word, you'll hear from 'Whitey.' He's a 'natural' plus 'guts,' which is all one requires to make the grade."

RAYNHAM OPENS DOORS TONIGHT



Ninth Race Features Inaugural

Raynham Park, resplendent in a color scheme of blue and white, throws open its gates officially tonight to usher in the first meeting of the Massasoit Greyhound Ass'n.

Deserted farm land only seven weeks ago, the new oval is ready for its inaugural.

More than 10,000 race addicts are expected to see a ten-race program in view of the fact that very close to that number braved the elements for the final schooling session last night.

The crowds have been exceptionally large during the past few nights with everybody trying to get a line on the new greyhounds so that the hunt and stab method won't be in effect when Mr. and Mrs. Public step in to the win, place and show window with that lucky "deuce."

NINTH RACE FEATURE

Interest tonight will center on the ninth race which will be the Inaugural Cup Feature over 5-16's of a mile.

The "hot box" dogs slated to go in the feature are Busy Court, Rip Snorter, Byron Nelson, Liquid Gold, Legal Gamble, Patley Cheers, Summons and Q. T. Loodoon.

It is expected that Busy Court and Rip Snorter will get the heavy play but there are many who believe Legal Gamble has a grand chance of coming through with a royal upset.

This Ostendorff speedster has had the misfortune to draw an outside box, which is a disadvantage to a rail runner, but if Legal Gamble should ever get clear on that first turn, he's going to be a tough customer to catch.

All ten races figure to be bitterly contested and until the fans who will pour in from Boston, Providence, Quincy, Pawtucket, Brockton, Taunton and way stations get to know the "pups" there figures to be plenty of fancy pay-offs.

The first race gets away at 8:15.

TROLLER CATCHES 40 MACKEREL

Bruce Adams Has Memorable Day Off Manomet

By DARK MONTREAL

Despite a Sunday fog you could chop with an ice-pick, the Ipswich bay tuna fleet was in action and the bluefins, so far as I could learn in the haze, quite active. Tony Farrell hung and boated a pair, Reggie Leach took one, Ben Crowninshield one and Jim Blake, fishing from Paul Bauer's cruiser, another. So much for the tuna flags sighted; undoubtedly many other fish were caught.

The mackerel schools caught the Old Nick all the way from Provincetown to Portland, and some very large fish were taken. Bruce Adams, trolling off Manomet, had the most interesting catch and the most interesting non-catch I heard about. Jack English gave me the report. Clearing his spinner gang-hook of a piece of weed, Adams found impaled upon one barb a tiny fish—about five-eighths of an inch long—which he had picked up with the weed while trolling. He is of the belief this was a tiny mackerel. The non-catch was "the biggest mackerel I ever saw" which he hooked and had alongside only to have the hook break as the fish was being boated. He came ashore with 40 mackerel, the smallest better than two pounds so that was a good fish that got away. Many bags of this size were brought into Al Tripp's Manomet Point station.

I have received from Elmer Raymond a picture of Bert Barlow and his 9-pound salmon. Unfortunately, it is not sharp enough for reproduction. However, it will be good for the files of evidence that Long Pond does produce some big ones. Gene Muller, by the way, told me of two anglers, fishing in one boat there on Sunday, who caught nine salmon ranging from 14 to 17 inches.

• • •

I have had several inquiries concerning the 9¾ pound rainbow trout I reported in Sunday's column. Most everyone who called wanted to know if I am sure the fish was a rainbow, rather than a salmon. Miss Gladys Baker, who killed the fish, and R. W. Tolman, with whom she was fishing, both have a wide knowledge of both trout and salmon. Others who saw the fish, including Francis Tripp, of 15 Early ave., Medford, assure me it was a rainbow and for a clincher the taxidermist says the same. I guess there is no doubt about it. This was a very deep "thick" fish. We usually estimate a 2½ inch salmon to weigh about five pounds, perhaps a little more, sometimes a little less. This trout was only 3½ inches longer than that but its girth was 17½ inches.

• • •

Charles M. Frost of Milton, who holds the U. S. record by virtue of his 736-lb. tuna fish catch last year, has been breaking records again. His fishing is now confined to Wednesdays in Massachusetts Bay. He has only been out twice this year and his first time he landed a 460-lb. tuna in 20 minutes. He landed another last week.

THE MAIL BAG

R. LODERMAN:—The U. S. Army Engineers have tightened up on their restrictions on Cape Cod Canal fishing within the last two weeks. Part of defense safeguards, I suppose. I don't think you could ever get a permit to fish from the barge.

• • •

ALBERT TAPLEY:—Mashnee Island and the Four Buoys are the best spots I know for squiteague. John Allen, at the Weweantic, can put you onto them. There is also a good weakfish ground in Marion harbor but I do not have the bearings.

• • •

R. M. MERRITT:—I think you will find the following theory holding insofar as striped bass are concerned; that on an outgoing tide they drop very fast through the quickest rips on the early ebb and lie in the comparatively slack water feeding on the bait that continues to drop down for several hours.

• • •

M. D. DENNIS:—I don't pretend to be a surf-casting expert and though I have my own ideas concerning your question, I'd rather somebody with more experience than myself gave the answer. I think Oliver H. P. Rodman, of Salt Water Sportsman, can give you the answer right off the bat.

• • •

MYRON MESSICK: — I have heard of stripers acting that way in the little inlet at Ellisville where they would not take a bait however attractively presented. Of course, what seems attractive to us may not be at all attractive to the fish. Anyway, I doubt if they are spawning.

Distance Races Top Rock Card

SALEM, N. H., July 23—Promptly at 2:30 next Monday afternoon, Starter Bob Frend will push a button, the Puett electric gate will clang open, and the eighth annual summer meeting of Rockingham Park will be on its 24-day way.

On that day, the Manchester Purse, at six furlongs, and the Lawrence Purse at a mile and one-sixteenth, a pair of allowance races, will head the inaugural card. On that day, too, Racing Secretary John P. Turner will start a series of distance events which will culminate in some two-mile battles before the meeting ends.

A race at a mile and three-sixteenths is on the card for opening day. Two days later, a race will be run at a mile and five-eighths. And a little later in the proceedings, according to the condition book for the first 15 days of the meeting, a race has been scheduled at a mile and three-quarters, the longest race of the New England season to date.

Any old Dobbin can wheeze through a six furlongs sprint, but the test of horseflesh comes over a distance of ground. That, incidentally, is also the test of a racetrack. The track which can schedule distance events is the track with the good horses, and it is significant that more than 60 per cent of the races at Rockingham Park will be over a distance of ground.

It is expected, too, that once again the horses will run to form over the kind Rockingham racing strip. Year after year, the old Rock is among the national leaders in the percentage of winning favorites.

State Race Solons To Toil in New York

The summer convention of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners will be in session in New York Thursday and Friday.

By way of relaxation and to get away from business, the delegates will attend the Empire City races on Thursday, and then on Friday they will attend the Empire City races.

Jersey Big Car King To Compete at Keene

KEENE, N. H., July 23—Joe Verberly of Bound Brook, N. J., Skeeter state big car dirt track auto race champion, returns to New England next Sunday to compete in the 10-lap whirl at the Safford speedway here.

Along with Verberly in the grind will be Doc Fredericks, Amsterdam, N. Y., Lee Warren, Troy, N. Y., Ted Harley, New Britain, Ct., Sonny Martin, Bangor, Me., Gene Trinque, Mapleville, R. I., Bill Randall, Reading, Mass., Bud Hardt and George Bouley of Waterbury, Ct., and Chet Conklin, Danbury, Ct.

Among the drivers are three state champions, Verberly, Trinque and Fredericks.

Diamond Gems

Stalwart second baseman of the Boston Nationals from 1890-1907 was Robert Lincoln Lowe . . . playing beside Herman Long at shortstop, be-moustached Bobby helped five flag winning Boston teams . . . Lowe affixed his name in baseball annals on a Memorial Day in Boston back in 1894 by walloping 4 successive homers over the fence . . . he again proved himself a slugger when he hit safely six consecutive times in an 1891 game, including a double and homer in his string . . . Bobby's potent bat and sure fielding endeared him to Boston fans of the '90's.
